Extensive Flooding In North

One Tuesday's most troublesome floods occurred on Bayshore Freeway near the California Avenue overcrossing in South San Francisco.

Sgt. Roy W. Edwards of the California Highway Patrol said that at 1:30 a.m. at least 15 cars were stalled in a "lake" that formed over the highway.

The water was three feet deep in spots, the officer said, and traffic was restricted to one lane for 90 minutes. Some of the swamped autos were pulled out by tow trucks. Others were pushed out of the water by patrol cars, which are equipped with push bars.

Edwards said it appeared to him that the drain pipe at the location just was not large enough to carry off the deluge of water.

Several access ramps were restricted or closed because of flooding at intersections just off the freeway. The southbound off-ramp at San Bruno was closed for a while because water was three feet deep at San Bruno and Seventh Avenues.

One tow truck stalled at that intersection and was towed out by another tow truck.

Highway patrolmen made several rescues at Canada and Polhemus Roads by pushing stalled cars out of deep water. The same was true at Junipero Serra Freeway and Westborough Boulevard in South San Francisco.

Cabrillo Highway at Devil's Slide was blocked from 1 to 4 a.m.

Edwards said there were numerous rear-end accidents at the trouble spots but there were no reports of serious injuries.

Daly City Plans to Fight Elevated Rapid Transit Station—Mayor

THE ACTIVE PARTICIPATION of Daly City and Colma civic leaders has been obtained by the Jefferson Council of P-TA's, in cooperation with the Peninsula Memorial Blood Bank, for establishment of a community reserve blood credit fund. The Peninsula blood mobile unit will be at Benjamin Franklin School, 700 Stewart Avenue, Colma, from 1 to 7 p.m., February 2. Shown above are (left to right) Colma mayor W. H. Honeywell, Daly City mayor Bernard Lycett; Jefferson P-TA Council president Mrs. Michael Kerekes; Youth in Government Mayor Leon Colvin; Daly City Councilman Anthony Giamona and Broadmoor Police Chief Ray Savage. He'll Insist On Subway, Lycett Says

Action by the Bay Area Rapid Transit District's board of directors Thursday, instructing designers to go ahead with plans for an elevated terminus station in Daly City, has brought an outburst from city officials who have sworn to oppose it "in any way possible."

Daly City Mayor Bernard Lycett expressed deep disappointment in BARTD's decision and threatened to toss a legal barrier in the path of the transit agency "if they insist on construction of an elevated station."

Mayor Lycett said "this sort of decision has been consistent with their (BARTD's) actions since they first came to our city."

The district's staff recommended the elevated station as the most economical and asked directors to allow design consultants to start immediate work on plans.

"It would be desirable on my part to create an ordinance that would force them to put the station underground, and I intend to pursue this matter legally," Lycett said. "I have already instructed city attorney Albert Polonsky to look into the matter."

BARTD has said, during talks on the matter, that they would have no objection to a subway station if Daly City pays the $3 million difference it would cost to build such a station.

However, the city does not have such funds available and, in fact, has asked BARTD to help defray the costs of re-rout-

D.C. COUNCIL

Students Run Special Meet

BY FRANK LA PIERRE

Youth took over the reins of city government in Daly City Monday, and in a two hour mock session gave the more than 50 adults attending a reassuring look at where tomorrow's crop of leaders will be harvested from.

"They did an absolutely remarkable job," the "real" mayor, Bernard Lycett, said after the special meeting at the Civic Center.

Minutes before, Lycett had addressed the parents of the participants in the Youth in Government program, saying "today's citizens don't know what government is all about."

"I have only one word for you folks — participate," the mayor said, adding "If I had to make a cold, calculating observation after watching these youths tonight, it would be that the mayor and council of this city had better look out for their jobs."

The 15 youths were selected from Jefferson and Westmoor high schools by their instructors. Each was "paired" with a city official or staff member for the week-long program.

During the session the students directed their attention towards passage of four resolutions dealing with establishment of an investigative committee to study the possibility of constructing a cultural center complex within Daly City.

The center, as proposed by the student-officials, would include an exhibition hall, library, and theater.

City Manager George Muller informed the council, composed of Mayor Leon Colvin, and Councilmen Richard Rochetta, Bill Puddy, and Gregory Brewer, that a blue ribbon panel of Daly City citizens had already recommended such a facility.

Financing of the complex could be accomplished similar to the lease-purchase plan used to construct the Civic Center, Treasurer John Spittler said.

Another "resolution" passed by the council was a request to the county supervisors to establish a Human Relations Committee to deal with any possible racial problems on a county-wide scale.

A request to amend the California Government Code limiting the terms of all elected officials to two four-year terms failed for lack of a majority vote.

Councilwoman-student Jimmie Rance was absent during the meeting and the remaining four councilmen were divided evenly on the issue of limiting terms of office.

Boundary Plan Hit By 'a Few'

BY WILL E. THOMAS

The superintendent of the Jefferson High School District in Daly City said Wednesday he had received "a few" calls generally in opposition to the Serramonte boundary proposals he presented district trustees last week.

Ed Morgan noted the complaints came from the Palisades area, west of Skyline Boulevard, which in recent years also has experienced student transfers among schools in the Jefferson Elementary District.

Palisades students currently attend Westmoor High.

If trustees accept Morgan's recommendations, pupils who live in the area west of Skyline would attend the new Serramonte School, not yet built, but set for opening in September of 1969.

Other sections of Daly City to be bused to Serramonte would be the Bayshore Elementary School District students; the Westlake region north of Alemany and in the Park Plaza-North Mayfair and Fairway Drive sector, as well as the area bounded between Belhavan-St. Francis Boulevard and Highgate Drive.

Morgan explained that his recommendations were based on University of California report assumptions and the Jefferson District Faculty Committee's rationale.

The UC assumptions included in the Morgan recommendations:

—The citizens of the community served by the district desire the best possible education

City Council Candidates Get Papers

Henry Angerbauer, a certified public accountant, was the first candidate to file with the City Clerk's office for the position of Daly City treasurer in the upcoming April 9 general elections.

Angerbauer, 39, of 74 Dalerose Court, submitted the necessary papers bearing the signatures of ten registered voters, according to clerk Anna Ohlendorf.

Four others have taken out papers for various posts in the election, including incumbent clerk Anna Ohlendorf, incumbent city treasurer Joseph Lewkowitz, incumbent councilman Frank Pacelli and Lewis J. Papan.

Papan, of 40 Northgate Court, is entering the race for one of the two council seats up for election.

Incumbent councilman Anthony Giamonna has already announced his candidacy and was expected to take out papers later this week.

Six candidates have taken out papers to run for three seats in the South San Francisco council.

They include incumbents Frank Bertucelli and Emilio Cortesi; former police chief Louis Belloni, an unsuccessful candidate two years ago; Frank Mammini, a member of the city's planning commission; merchant Clifford Wells and Warren Steinkamp, a planner and estimator.

City Clerk Arthur Rodondi and treasurer John Bonalana have also filed for re-election.

New Garbage Disposal Era

BY DON GRIERSON

Two North Peninsula scavenger firms signed a contract with a waste conversion company Friday in a move which is being hailed as the beginning of a new era in garbage disposal.

Under an arrangement with the South San Francisco Scavenger Co. and the San Bruno Garbage Co., Inc., an Albuquerque, N.M., firm will construct a $1.6 million municipal waste disposal plant to handle refuse from four North County cities.

The plant, to be built by Pan American Resources, Inc., will be located on a South San Francisco site owned by the scavengers.

Terms of the ten-year contract will require the scavenger companies to deliver a minimum of 288 tons of municipal waste to the plant daily, and stipulate that Pan American Resources will eliminate these wastes in a plant which will not cause pollution problems in the atmosphere.

Albert J. Buchbinder, president of the New Mexico firm, said his company has developed methods of converting trash and garbage into usable by-products such as elemental carbon and combustible gas.

Sale of these products, along with the fact that the process is self-sustaining and utilizes a portion of the combustible gas it produces to create heat to operate the system, will make the plant economically feasible, he said.

Garbage will be disposed of at a cost of approximately $3.50 per ton. This figure is somewhat higher than the cost of "fill and cover" operations presently carried out by the scavengers, but cheaper than incineration.

Developers of the process claim they have eliminated the air pollution problem associated with incineration, and the plant will comply with all federal, state and local regulations.

Known as Lantz Converters, the plant's disposal machines will work on the principle of carbonization, Buchbinder said.

This involves applying both

An Attempt To Kidnap Is Charged

Two Pacifica men, charged with the attempted kidnap of Rafael Cabanas, a Cuban refugee who last year opened a shoe store in Pacifica, will appear in Northern Judicial District Court in South San Francisco Wednesday to enter pleas.

The suspects, Thomas Joseph Center, 32, and Michael James Dalton, 21, both of 349 Mina Lane, first appeared Monday for court arraignment, but were granted a delay to consult attorneys.

They were arrested Saturday by Pacifica police at the home

Deputy Says He Was Hit With Brick

Calvin Charles Greenawalt, 19, of 1328 Peralto Drive, Pacifica, is to enter a plea February 5 in Northern Judicial District court on an allegation he slugged a reserve deputy sheriff with a brick after the patroling deputy came upon a man wielding a machete and another having a severe cut on his arm Saturday night.

This story was pieced together from Pacifica police reports.

At about 8:14 p.m., reserve deputy Walter L. Rathbun, Jr., was on routine patrol when he spotted two parked cars on Linda Mar Boulevard, with activity going around them.

Stopping to investigate, Rathbun saw a man identified later as Richard D. Richardson, 43, of No. 5 Shanandoah, Pacifica, armed with a machete.

At the same time, the deputy noticed another man, Frank D. Childers, 19, of 1173 Alicante quest for purchase of an 85 foot "snorkel" rescue truck, costing some $80,000, was likewise defeated by the penny-wise council.

Colunga explained the truck could be used at Mary's Help Hospital and at future high-rise apartment sites for rescue. However, most student-officials felt the purchase of such an apparatus at this time was premature.

The students slapped conditions at the John Daly Library and recommended immediate measures to be taken to upgrade that facility through purchase of new books and reference materials.

To correct this deficiency in the branch library, librarian Patricia Easse asked for additional funds.

A money-saving measure which would combine the city Parks and Recreational departments was introduced by city engineer Diane Cortopassi. Recreation director Leighton Ah Po agreed with Miss Cortopassi that the idea was sound and would save the city "a considerable amount of money."

The Cow Palace fell under attack from the youths for not contributing to the city coffers on what was called "non-governmental activities" at that facility.

The council directed city attorney Wendy Woolery and city clerk Patricia Lynch to send a letter to State Legislators requesting repeal of section 87.2 of the Agricultural Code, which prohibits Daly City from imposing a tax on revenues of the Cow Palace.

The students felt the Cow Palace was undertaking many non-governmental (commercial) functions and should pay tax to the city.

Curfew restrictions in the city should be amended police chief Dorothy Redmond said.

Chief Redmond felt the law should be broken into age groups. For example: 16-year-olds should be off the streets at 10:30 p.m. and older teenagers allowed to stay out a little later — perhaps until 11:30 p.m.

Finance director Gary Abrams concerned himself during the session with keeping an "eagle eye" on funding of various proposed projects.

The venture was termed "a huge success" by Jefferson Union High School superintendent Edward Morgan.

"I noticed that of the 15 items discussed tonight, 11 dealt directly with people — with improvement of the life of citizens in our city. This is a good sign that our youth are concerned with human beings," Morgan said.

MRS. LOUIS GIUSTI, Daly City American Cancer Society unit educational chairman (left); Skyline Terrace Convalescent Home representatives; and Miss Geraldine Carver (right), assistant director of para-medical education at Mary's Help Hospital, discuss the second annual nursing workshop to be held Wednesday at the College of San Mateo.

ACS Workshop Set Wednesday

Virginia Barckley, R.N., nursing consultant for the National American Cancer Society and writer of many articles on the subject of nursing care of cancer patients, will be principal speaker at the second annual Nursing Workshop to be conducted January 31, at College of San Mateo Little Theater, by San Mateo County ACS.

As a supplement to the day-long program of lectures and demonstrations, Dr. Stephen Leavitt of the University of California School of Medicine will discuss psychological aspects of cancer as they affect the patient and his family.

A part of the year-round program of professional education sponsored by the local ACS, the worskhop is open to workers in all fields of nursing — R.N., LVN, aides and private duty and office nurses as well as those on hospital staffs. Registrations for the workshop, including a box lunch, may be made at ACS headquarters in San Mateo or with representatives at local hospitals.

Co-sponsoring the workshop with the Cancer Society are local units of the California League for Nursing, California Nursing Association and California Licensed Vocational Nurses Association.

Arda Vonderheid, R.N., of Peninsula Hospital, is chairman of the ACS workshop committee. Among these working with her to arrange for an expected 300 participants are Barbara Putnam, LVN, Peninsula Hospital; Florence White, R.N., education director of San Mateo General Hospital; Gertrude Laun, R.N., Mills Memorial Hospital; Mabel Aasen, R.N., and Ione Jennings, R.N., San Carlos; Mary Lou Behymer, R.N., nursing director of Hillsdale Manor Convalescent Hospital; Ruth Bishop, R.N., assistant director of the county Visiting Nurses Association; Geraldine Carver, education department of Mary's Help Hospital; Irene Shea, R.N., Mills Hospital, and Mrs. Louis Guisti, Daly City ACS unit.

Machete, Brick Weapons

Drive, Pacifica, was bleeding from his left wrist.

Rathbun shouted, "Police officer" and, according to the deputy, Greenawalt approached and allegedly tried to strike Richardson with a brick.

The deputy grabbed Greenawalt's arm and Greenawalt assertedly turned around and struck Rathbun in the head with the same brick.

Throwing his arms around the suspect, Rathbun wrestled Greenawalt to the ground, striking him with his flashlight.

Rathbun then ordered Richardson to relinquish the large knife, but Richardson, the deputy reported did not respond until Rathbun drew his revolver and again demanded the machete.

Then, Rathbun, declared in his report, Richardson threw the knife at Rathbun's feet.

Confusion, however, surrounds the events that led to the incident.

But, Pacifica police apparently believe the car driven by Childers stopped suddenly in front of the Richardson vehicle, with Childers, Greenawalt and Thomas A. Colombini allegedly accosting Richardson.

Richardson pulled out the machete from beneath the seat in his car after there was an exchange of words, it is reported, attempted to keep the trio away from him by swinging the knife.

Childers suffered the cut wrist — the wound required 56 stitches to close, according to police reports — when he "advanced too close" to Richardson.

It was apparently at that point that deputy Rathbun arrived at the scene.

heat and pressure to combustible materials inside a sealed chamber.

The process produces end products of combustible gas and commercial charcoal, or, if preferred, it will reduce waste material to an ash one-to-five per cent of its original weight, according to the company spokesmen.

Buchbinder said the firm expects to derive revenues of $10 million from sale of the by-products during the initial ten-year contract period.

The South San Francisco facility and a similar installation planned for Houston, Tex., will be the first operational plants to utilize the converters.

However, working models have been constructed and extensively tested, and more than five years' research has gone into the project, Buchbinder said.

The plant is scheduled for completion January 1, about the time the South San Francisco dumping site utilized by the two scavenger companies is expected to reach capacity.

Mayor Patrick Ahern commended the South San Francisco Scavenger Company for its imaginative effort to solve the waste disposal problem in North San Mateo County. In releasing the following information he stated:

"This is the kind of cooperation and progressive thinking we need, not only in waste disposal but in all problems facing city government today."

North San Mateo County, he said may have "moved a long way toward solving its pressing refuse disposal problem."

Extensive Flooding In North

from rock and mud slides made the Half Moon Bay-San Mateo Road a hazardous passage.

Reports said that the road was in one of its most dangerous conditions in 25 years.

Grandview Drive near Skyline Boulevard and Bolivar Road in Portola Valley were blocked by trees. Trees also fell across Woodside Road in Woodside and Alpine Road near Skyline. Old La Honda Road was blocked for a half-hour by a landslide. Slides also occurred on Ralston Avenue between Canada Road and Skyline but the road remained open.

Daly City firemen worked all night assisting street department personnel replacing manhole covers displaced by the flood waters, and reported some streets were under five feet of water at the peak of the storm.

Westpark Avenue in the Westlake Estates area, one of the lowest points in the city, "looked like Niagra Falls," according to firemen, and the basements and garages of numerous homes were flooded.

Alemany Boulevard between Lake Merced Boulevard and Park Plaza Drive was closed for several hours, and traffic was also halted on Park Plaza between 87th Street and Palmcrest.

Several automobiles were stalled on Park Plaza, firemen said, and could not be removed until the waters subsided.

Considerable damage was reported at an apartment building on Palmcrest when roof drains on the building overloaded and caused water to seep into the apartments.

Firemen said four or five apartments were reported flooded.

In San Bruno, one of the city's main thoroughfares, San Bruno Avenue, was closed for more than three hours because of flooding.

Police said the street was closed at 3 a.m., and was not reopened until 6:30 a.m.

Two Youths Held In Martin Killing

Two teen-agers were in custody today in the vicious slaying last week of Assemblyman Leo Ryan's secretary whose sons were friends of the arrested youths.

Gregory Lane Sinclear, 19, and Peter John Saliber, 18, were booked on murder charges in the bludgeon death of Miriam H. Martin, 44, in her North Highlands home Jan. 23.

Sheriff John Misterly said the youths, who live in the same North Sacramento suburb several blocks from the victim, were arrested Monday afternoon after a tip from two store employes.

Misterly said the clerks reported one of the youths paid for a purchase with a somewhat rare silver certificate dollar bill, the same type as was in a collection stolen from Mrs. Martin's home the day of her death. That type of bill is generally out of circulation, replaced by federal reserve notes.

Misterly said the theft backed up theories that Mrs. Martin, home with a serious cold, surprised someone in a burglary.

The brunette housewife-secretary was found unconscious and near death in her blood-spattered home by her 9-year-old son Chris returning from school.

She died moments later on the way to a hospital. A coroner's autopsy showed she had been struck about 40 times in the head with a blunt object and other injuries indicated a violent struggle.

Misterly said the arrested youths were acquaintances of the victim's other sons, Michael 19, and David, 18, and that she would have recognized them.

Police said that one of the suspects called the home in the afternoon asking that the son, Mike, who was home, meet them four blacks away. The boys parked outside the home and when Mike left they entered said police. They were surprised by Mrs. Martin who attempted to halt the theft of the coins.

Cuban Refugees Are Threatened of Filberto Cabezas, Rafael's brother, at 947 El Dorado Drive.

Police had received a call at 7:51 p.m. from Brigadier Tobias Martinez of San Francisco that alleged "several men with chains" had forced their way into the Cabezas residence.

Upon responding, the investigating patrolman was told by Victoria M. Cabezas, who was described as noticeably upset, that there was no need for the police.

However, the officer continued to question persons at the house, including Center, who was in the living room. Center at first gave a false name and address, according to police reports.

As the discussion was pursued, it was revealed that suspect Dalton was in a bedroom of the house.

It later came out that a third man, known only as "Jim" had come to the Cabezas residence, demanding to see Rafael Cabezas, accusing him of molesting his child, an allegation Cabezas subsequently denied.

It was asserted that there were eight men in the group outside the house and that shortly after "Jim" allegedly pushed his way into the Cabezas house he pulled out an 18-inch long piece of 1½-inch link chain and "twirled" it in "a menacing fashion."

Victoria Cabezas, it was stated in the report by police officers, was told to get her children out of the house, since "if someone got mad, they might get hurt."

Police arrived apparently as the two suspects and the Cabezas brothers were heading for the basement to get Filberto's car.

One of the suspects had demanded the keys to the car, assertedly bent on taking the Cabezas to "Jim's" home, location unknown.

As police arrived, Rafael was told by Filberto, in Spanish, to flee.

Police said that at one point, Center managed to escape, darting away down El Dorado. Sgt. R. Karczewski flushed him out at gunpoint from the yard of 284 El Dorado.

Man, 23, Is Found Dead

Daly City police said the death of a 23-year-old man at his Talbert Street apartment Monday was an apparent suicide.

Detective Capt. Richard Sims said the victim, Victor M. Vergro, was found lying on the floor in his living room with a phone cradled in his arm.

He had been shot in the chest and was believed to have swallowed a quantity of rat poison.

The incident was reported shortly before 11 a.m. when Vergro failed to report for work when in San Francisco.

A fellow worker visited the apartment and discovered the body, police said.

Sims said no notes were found at the scene and an attempt was now being made to locate relatives of the victim.

Hindman will not only present his Christian testimony but he will sing and play his guitar.

Youth are invited, according to Mrs. Jack Spratt and Mrs. Russell Brabec, youth advisors.

Spectators are invited to see the two church basketball teams in action on Mondays at 7:15 p.m. at the S.F. Presidio Junior High Gym for the high school team and Tuesdays at 7:15 p.m. at Aptos Junior High for the junior high team.

The pastor, Rev. Herbert Tweedie, will preach on "The Gospel According to Mark" at both 9:15 and 11 a.m. worship services Sunday.

Mexico Hit And Run Kills Pacifica Man

An Ensenada man today awaited arraignment on a manslaughter charge following the death of a Northern Californian killed by a hit-run driver on a downtown street.

The victim was Frank E. Peterson Jr., 51, Pacifica, struck down while crossing a street here Sunday night.

Ramon A. Peralta, 28, Ensenada, was arrested a short time later when police found him near a car stuck in mud a short distance from the scene of the accident.

Peterson lived at 216 Second Avenue.

$1,500 Theft In S.S.F. Told

Mechanics' tools valued at more than $1,500 were taken from the Bayshore Chrysler Service Department building on El Camino Real in South San Francisco in a burglary Wednesday night, police reported.

Officers said two boxes of miscellaneous hand tools were removed from the building after burglars smashed a window on the west side.

Service Manager Frank Jenkins said the tools belonged to workmen employed by the firm.

The Faculty Committee's rationale states that all plans should:

—Prevent or retard de facto segregation from occurring in any one of the district high schools.

—Balance enrollment between Jefferson, Westmoor and Serramonte, and prevent an imbalance from occurring in any of the other high schools in the district;

—Be financially feasible;

—Be acceptible to the community.

Morgan, when he presented the recommendations — which included a broad "creative educational program" — asserted that his proposals "will meet the above assumptions and rationale, and will, if adopted by the Board, be overwhelmingly accepted by community and staff.

City Council Candidates Get Papers

council seats will be at stake, five candidates have taken out papers.

Incumbent Donald Risso announced last week that he will not seek re-election.

The candidates are Lester Kelting, Charles R. Hanley, James A. Hensel Jr., Richard Griffith, and George R. Corey.

Running for city treasurer are incumbent Martin A. Crumm and Charles H. Hess.

City clerk Carl Hultberg has announced his candidacy for re-election.

In Pacifica, both Mayor Grace McCarthy and attorney Daniel Modena have taken out candidacy papers, but have not yet filed.

These are the only two vacancies to be voted upon in the April election.

Richard Passafiumo and George Edsell, both of whom vied for a council slot in the recent special election to fill the vacancy created by James Fox, who resigned, have taken out papers.

So has real estate appraiser William F. Feenny.

Deadline for filing candidacy papers is noon, February 15.

Mayor Warns He'll Insist On a Subway

ing certain streets in the area affected by the station.

Daly City Planner Edward Lawson represented the city at Thursday's meeting and presented the city's view on the subject of an elevated station.

Lawson emphasized to the directors Daly City's stand on the subject and asked that no action be taken on the matter until the city had time to study it.

The directors "left the door open" by informing Lawson their motion to start design plans for the station did not necessarily mean amendments to the station could not be made at a later date.

Lawson also felt the $3 million cost figure quoted by BARTD engineers was too high for a subway type station.

A spokesman for BARTD said the district had worked very hard in recent months to come up with a suitable plan for the station and had issued their composite report as a result these studies.

Jeff Elementary Plans to Install Burglar Devices

An epidemic of burglaries that have swept through the Jefferson Elementary School District "at an alarming rate" since last October have prompted authorities to install burglar alarms in some of the district's 21 schools.

School superintendent Frank Greenwood informed trustees, during a regular meeting last week, that more than 50 incidents of burglary, vandalism and theft have been reported in the district during the past four months.

Estimated loss as a result of these incidents topped $4,000, Greenwood said.

Although most incidents are covered by insurance, future rates may be affected unless action is taken soon to cut down on the burglaries, trustees were told.

Cost of installing a burglar alarm in a school building is $140, plus $8 monthly for maintenance of the system. If the alarm is tied into the central police station, the cost will be higher, Greenwood said.

The buildings that have been selected to receive the systems were not revealed. Eventually, all school buildings within the district will have the system installed.

Greenwood said the incidents of breaking into school buildings is increasing annually "at an alarming rate" and while cooperation between police and school officials has been excellent (police have recovered most of the items stolen) "we must take other measures to lower these incidents."

$1,000 Theft In San Bruno

A portable television, record playeer, radio, jewelry, other items with a total value of more than $1,000 were taken from a San Bruno residence in a burglary sometime last Monday, police reported.

Officers said the property was taken from the home of Dino Santrisos, 2805 Shannon, while occupants were away overnight.

Entrance to the house was gained through breaking a rear bedroom window.

Office Tower Permit For S.S.F. Issued

A use permit for the $1.5 million Guy F. Atkinson Co. office tower in South San Francisco has been issued, and work on construction plans for the new building began last week, a company spokesman said.

The use permit was issued Friday, after the 10-day period for appealing the permit elapsed.

Officials of the firm expressed fears that homeowner groups would appeal the permit after several persons spoke out against it at a planning commission hearing January 8.

Had an appeal been filed, the company would probably have abandoned plans to locate the "world headquarters building" in South San Francisco, according to building and properties Manager Thomas Henderson.

Henderson said the firm's expansion schedule requires that the new office facilities be completed by September, 1969. Even a brief delay for appeal hearings before the council would have upset the timetable.

Construction on the new building, to be located on the firm's 26-acre Orange Avenue site, will begin in about two months.

Spokesmen said the plans will be revised to limit the tower to seven stories, instead of the eight stories indicated in the plans approved by the planning commission.

Principal opposition to the new building came from homeowners in the Sign Hill area, who maintain it will spoil their view, and Parks Director Robert Maxey and Landscape Consultant John Hoffman.

Congressman To Be in S.S.F.

Congressman Paul N. "Pete" McCloskey announced today that he will hold a "Constituents' Day" at the South San Francisco Post Office on Saturday, February 10.

The Congressman will be available at the Post Office at 381 South Airport Boulevard from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. to discuss problems and issues with constituents on an individual basis.

Appointments for individual interviews can be made through the Congressman's field office at 490 El Camino Real, Belmont.

"I feel that it is a Congressman's duty to maintain close personal contact with the people of his district," McCloskey said.

"Sometimes in Washington we are in danger of becoming too remote from the problems of the people. That is why I have inititated the Constituents' Day Program. I hope to make it a regular event.

"The people of the Eleventh Congressional District have the right — almost the duty — to tell their representative what their opinions are. If they disagree with me on issues, I want to know about it.

"If they have problems with federal agencies, I want to know about them — and perhaps help solve them.

"I hope the people of San Mateo County will take advantage of this opportunity."

McCloskey, a Republican, was elected in December to fill out the unexpired term of the late Congressman J. Arthur Younger.

South SF PAL Gun Class

Police Athletic League of South San Francisco is forming a shooting class for youngsters 10 to 17 years of age.

The class will be at the Oyster Point Rod and Gun Club facilities. There will be a small fee charged per week for the class, which will feature firing of .22-caliber rifles.

Memorial Rites Slated Friday

Sabbath services on Friday will include a memorial service for the late Jack Pinkus.

Wolfe Mostow will appear as guest Cantor and assist Rabbi Solomon A. Shore.

Jack Pinkus was British soccer sports reporter for Station KSFO and chaplain of Lincoln Lodge, No. 470 of the Free and Accepted Masons.

Members of the lodge will be attending the service.

Students of the B'nai Israel Hebrew School will participate in the Inter-School Rally to be held at Redwood City on February 22.

Serramonte Boundary Issue Studied 12 Years

By WILL E. THOMAS

When — and if — trustees of the Jefferson High School District decide on boundaries for the new Serramonte attendance area, they will have climaxed a wearisome effort that has spanned some 12 years.

The first steps, seemingly unrelated to today's planned boundary re-alignments and district desire to achieve a semblance of ethnic balance, started in 1956 when the district contracted with Stanford University's School of Education for a study on school needs and future enrollments.

In 1960, Stanford again conducted a similar survey.

These set the stage for actions that followed.

Dist. Supt. Edward Morgan recalls that in 1962 the trustees contracted with the architectural firm of Corwin Booth and Associates and "began to seriously investigate possible sites for high school number five."

Then in 1964 the Suburban Realty Company, which had purchased land owned for many years by the Christian Brothers, and which is now the Serramonte area, asked the district for a "firm commitment as to location and size of the district's next high school."

Morgan added, "To further assist this board and our community in its long range planning, Mario Ciampi and Associates submitted in June of 1965, that firm's study entitled, "Pengate — A Comprehensive Plan for the Jefferson Union High School District."

Still looking to the future and taking into consideration the Stanford studies and the Pengate survey, the board in 1965 named a citizens' committee to study school boundaries and, according to Morgan, "what we might do to prevent our Jefferson High School from becoming a de facto segregated school."

A series of public meetings followed filing of that committee's report in February of 1966.

After that controversy-shrouded report (no direct action resulted), trustees decided to hire the University of California Field Service Center to conduct a study that would be primarily concerned with (but not limited to):

—Determining the attendance boundaries for proposed Serramonte High School;

—Studying existing attendance boundaries at Jefferson, Westmoor, Oceana and Terra Nova High schools;

—Studying ways and means of preventing Jefferson High School from becoming a achool largely populated with minority groups.

Headed by Dr. Robert Stout — hence the name, "Stout Report" — the university submitted its findings, and recommendations, in July of 1967.

Stout had met with faculty, administrators and the general citizenry various-sized gatherings, including coffee clatches, from October 1966 to May of 1967.

Trustees went through the report in public meetings page by page, and called for public reaction.

In November, the board recieved from four high school staffs, district administrators and the American Fedeation of Teachers a document entitled, "Staff Reactions to Report on School Boundaries and Racial Separation."

Minimum school days also were held so that members of each school's faculty ould meet to discuss the report.

In filing the Faculty Committee's report and recommendations, which administrators followed to great extent in preparing their own proposals this week, Michael A Tugendreich declared:

". . . We worked together as teachers in a united effort to achieve the best possible educational plan for all youngsters in our district. . . ."

Morgan and his staff subsequently correlated all of the available material amassed over the years to arrive at his recommendations and conclusions on Serramonte boundaries, as well as the proposed expansion of a "creative educational program."

Morgan, in his presentation of recommendations, asked for board action on February 13.

Trustees, upon receipt of these proposals, called them "comprehensive" and praised the administrative staff for their efforts.

Though they asked a number of questions, the board members for the most part did not tip their hands as what the ultimate decision might be.

Schools Erosion Is Studied

Jefferson Elementary School District trustees gave the green light to Bill Chapman, of Kirker and Chapman Engineering Consultants, to continue studies for erosion control at nine school sites within the district.

Engineering estimates on the proposed "rehabilitation" of certain school sites is $229,000 "at this time," Chapman informed the trustees.

Project Engineer Don McGlamery explained the progress the firm had made in their studies of certain affected sites and outlined plans for rehabiliating and controlling future erosion in the district.

In their preliminary studies the engineers found erosion at Franklin D. Roosevelt, Christopher Columbus, Thomas Edison, M. Pauline Brow, Garden Village, Olympia, George Washington, Crocker and Edison schools.

"In many cases, these sites are dangerous (to children) and unsightly as a result of this erosion," McGlamery said.

School engineers had estimated the cost of rehabilitating these areas at more than $250,000, Supt. Frank Greenwood told the trustees.

In other action Tuesday night, the Board of Trustees:

Encouraged Supt. Greenwood to continue looking into the possibility of establishing a centralized cafeteria system to serve the entire school district.

Cost of the proposed system, which would employ a fleet of trucks and "hot carts" to shuttle meals between the preparation point and schools, would not exceed $40,000, Greenwood said.

"If we expanded our cafeteria facilities in the district the costs could run as high as $300,000," Greenwood said.

Pesently, the Jefferson Elementary School cafeterias, which serve only eight schools, reports an operating deficit of some $17,400.

"I figure a centralized system serving about 4,500-5,000 meals daily would reach the 'break even' point in two years. From that time on it would become self-supporting," Greenwood said.

He said the district would not have to lay off or hire any personnel.

"Surprisingly, we have most of the equipment needed for such an operation already — and the personnel to make it work," Greenwood explained.

Meals would be prepared and packaged in either "hot" or "cold" aluminum containers, transported to various schools and served "economically, efficiently and without waste."

Although Greenwood said a centralized site had not been selected for such a system, he pointed out that the newly renovated Woodrow Wilson School "had all the proper facilities."

Injury Crash Halts Traffic Hour on ECR

Two persons were injured and traffic was halted for more than an hour on El Camino Real in South San Francisco last Tuesday when an automobile overturned in the road.

Harold E. Morton, 18, of 819 Burns Court, San Bruno, and Catherine Gonzales, 339 Commercial Avenue, South San Francisco, were admitted to Kaiser Hospital for treatment of cuts and bruises after the wreck occurred at 10:40 p.m.

Police said the car, driven by Morton, was southbound on El Camino Real when the driver lost control on a curve near the Hickey Boulevard intersection.

Two small children were injured in another accident at 6:20 p.m. Tuesday when their mother apparently started a car while the transmission was engaged and crashed ino a drugstore.

Police said Verna Castro, 7, and her brother, Glenn, 2, received minor injuries when a car driven by Mrs. Rita Castro struck a building at 137 Hickey Boulevard.

A Daly City man received minor injuries in a third accident which occurred Tuesday morning at the intersection of Grand Avenue and Chestnut.

Angelo Novelli, 675 Hanover Street, was injured about 7:20 a.m. when his car collided with a vehicle driven by Dominic Balestierr, 1119 Miller Avenue, South San Francisco.

Bandit Robs Bruno Mart

An armed robber held up a San Bruno grocery market last Tuesday, and escaped with $150 and several cartons of cigarettes.

Police said the Huntington Market, 875 Huntington Avenue, was held up about 6:45 p.m. while Clerk Myron Spear was alone in the store.

The holdup man, described as a white male about 23 years old and wearing a blue work shirt, entered the store and asked for a package of cigarettes.

When Spear turned to get the cigarettes, the bandit pulled a pistol from his pocket and ordered the clerk to fill a sack with cigarettes and money.

The robber ran from the store and escaped on foot after the holdup.

$50,000 Suit In Pacifica

A $50,000 suit for damages was filed in Superior Court last week on behalf of a Pacifica boy who suffered a fractured spine last April 10 in a trampoline accident at Terra Nova High School.

In the suit Mrs. Nadine Greenfield states that her son, Gary, 17, was required to do back flips on the trampoline despite his protests of being "fearful." The first time he tried the maneuver, the suit states, he landed on his head. The second time he landed on his neck and back.

The suit alleges that school officials were aware that the trampoline was dangerous and that some other activity should have been substituted for it in the compulsory physical education course.

Named defendants are the Jefferson High School District, Terra Nova High School and Albert J. Figone, a PE teacher.

"DENTAL HEALTH FACTS"

Small cavities in the teeth can be filled more easily and with less discomfort than large ones.
If decay is neglected it leads to infection and abscess formation. An infected tooth is a hazard to good health and often must be removed.
A tooth that has been lost should be replaced by an artificial one. If it is not, the other teeth will shift. This shifting may lead to more decay and to diseases of the gums.
Irregular placement of the teeth should be corrected for many reasons: To improve appearance, speech, and the ability to chew foods and to help prevent other dental diseases.
Have your dentist check for cavities and follow his recommendations if treatment is needed.

Dr. Campbell tries to limit his practice to the making of dental plates, partial plates, removable bridges and extraction for same; however, he recommends that you see your dentist at least twice a year in order to help prolong the use of your natural teeth. Dentures are not as efficient as healthy, natural teeth.

$60,000 Blaze Damages New Macy Building

By DON GRIERSON

A fire which started from an asphalt heating kettle destroyed a 4,000-square-foot area of the roof and ceiling at the partially completed Macy's Service Center building in South San Francisco Wednesday, causing at least $60,000 damage to the structure.

The mammoth blaze was touched off about 12:15 p.m., while workmen on the $1.2 million project were at lunch.

More than 40 firemen from South San Francisco, Brisbane and Daly City fought the fire for an hour before bringing it under control, and columns of black smoke rose a half mile into the sky above the 229,000-square-foot structure.

About one-third of the partially completed roof on the building was either destroyed or badly damaged in the blaze, along with stacks of lumber and other building materials.

South San Francisco Fire Chief John Marchi said hot asphalt from a mobile heating kettle inside the covered section of the structure apparently spilled over and set fire to lumber stacked upon the concrete floor.

Flames from the tar and lumber ignited the wooden ceiling 30 feet above, and the fire quickly burned gaping holes through the roof.

Firemen attacked the blaze from above and below, using an aerial truck outside the building and ladders inside.

The nearest fire hydrant to the site, between El Camino Real and Old Mission Road, is three-quarters of a mile away, and firemen were forced to use a "tank truck shuttle" system in fighting the blaze.

This posed no difficulty, Marchi said, since there were ample tank trucks on hand to supply the pumps.

More than 2,500 gallons of water were sprayed over the building, and firemen spent several hours cleaning up after the fire was extinguished.

Blackened

Most of the interior was blackened by smoke.

Many officials said it would be impossible to assess damages accurately until structural engineers have thoroughly examined the building, and the $60,000 figure is considered "minimal."

Walls, floors and supporting columns of the structure are reinforced concrete. However, authorities said the columns may have to be replaced because of heat damage.

The building was slated for completion in May. Company officials said they have "no idea" how long the project will be delayed.

The building under construction represents the first phase of a five-phase project to be completed over a period of several years. Another building is to be constructed alongside the present structure, and another floor will be added at a later date.

The total project will cost an estimated $4 million, excluding cost of the 30-acre site, and it will be utilized as a state-wide service headquarters.

San Bruno Improvement Report Filed

Two Teeners Caught In SSF Chase

Five teen-agers were arrested in South San Francisco early Sunday morning after police allegedly observed one of the youths throw a marijuana cigarette from a speeding automobile.

Officers Fred Lagomarsino and Michael Dickson said they spotted the speeding car on El Camino Real about 12:30 a.m., Sunday, and gave chase.

In the 400 block of El Camino Real, the officers saw one of the youths throw something from the car.

After stopping the vehicle, the two officers retrieved the object,and found it to be a marijuana cigarette, according to police reports.

Arrested on charges of possession of marijuana were John Austin, 18, and James Barrientos, 19, both of South San Fancisco, and three juveniles.

The juveniles, all 15 and 16, were turned over to youth authorities at Hillcrest, police said.

$2.2-Millions Project Urged

A citizens' committee appointed to evaluate San Bruno's capital improvement needs submitted a final report to the council last week, with recommendations for expenditures of $2,259,500 during the next four years.

About half the total expenditures, $1,187,000, should be committed to the fiscal budget of 1968-69 for such extensive improvements as the $650,000 Sneath Lane widening project and "Phase II" construction on the new corporation yard.

Other items recommended for next year by the eight-man committee, headed by chairman William Cox, include widening College Drive, $100,000; storm drain improvements, $86,500; sewer line replacement reserve, $50,000, and street resurfacing expenditures of $50,000.

During the 1967-70 fiscal year, the committee recommends budgeting $305,000 for improvements.

Among the items to be undertaken during that period are "Phase III" construction on the corporation yard, $45,000; sewer line replacement, $50,000; street resurfacing, $50,000; Crestmoor No. 2 sewer outfall, $40,000; completion of Lions' Field in Belle Air, $25,000, and Fifth Addition storm drains, $20,000.

For the 1970-71 fiscal year, the committee has recommended a $340,000 Sharp Park Road widening project, and other improvements bringing the year's budget to $561,000.

The proposed budget for 1971-72 contains funds for a $145,000 Crystal Springs Road widening project, and $50,000 for a swimming pool construction reserve. Other items listed bring the 1971-72 budget to $321,000.

Members of the committee have been working on a five-year budget for about one year, and assisted the city's administrative staff in preparing the current $612,050 capital improvement budget.

Knife Suspect Collapses

Arraignment of Mrs. Amlia Droz Rodriguez, 49, of San Francisco, for the stabbing of her estranged husband in front of his Daly City home last week, was postponed when the suspect collapsed shortly before she was scheduled to appear in Northern Judicial District Court.

Mrs. Rodriguez was taken to St. Lukes Hospital in San Francisco for treatment when she had a relapse due to a previous operation.

The suspect is charged with assault with a deadly weapon after plunging a steak knife into her 54-year-old husband's stomach following a brief argument at 127 Evergreen Avenue, police report.

Mary's Help Hospital authorities said the victim, Tofilio, is "improving" and is expected to be discharged next week.

Pruning—Annual Garden Job

BY IVA NEWMAN

Peter Lert, Santa Clara County Farm Advisor, advised members of the Peninsula Chapter, California Association of Nurserymen, at their January meeting that there was a chemical "in the works" to prune ornamentals. However, his tests showed that the hand shears, loppers and saws were still the best and safest way to do this annual garden chore, as the chemical sometimes removed the whole plant.

In today's smaller garden we attempt to grow many plants that would normally grow too large for the space they are allowed to occupy. When a plant has to be restrained to keep it in scale to the space it occupies, it must be pruned hard annually. It frequently takes repeated hard pruning, in which almost as much wood is removed as is produced each year, to effect the necessary dwarfing effect. Only when you have consistently removed enough wood to change the ratio of leafy top to the root system, do you bring the size of a plant within bounds. However, a plant that has been dwarfed by pruning alone will have to be constantly watched to prevent a gradual return to normal growth habits.

Pruning Set

Severe pruning, after long neglect, will usually cause many weak and spindly growths to develop on some plants, and thick soft growths to start from dormant bunds along the main branches of other plants. These latter are called water-sprouts and are a detriment to most trees and shrubs, although one may be used occasionally to fill in where a branch has beeen lost. The hawthornes are particularly noted for the large number of water-sprouts they produce. Removal of these succulent growths should be done in early summer.

It is very important not only to have the proper pruning tools but that they be both sharp and clean. If your pruning job calls for pruning trees as well as shrubs and roses, you will need a minimum of four good tools. Hand shears for the small branches, long handled loppers for the larger branches, a curved pruning saw for the heavy branches and a long handled pruner for the branches too high to be reached with the first three tools. When buying a pruning saw look for one that can be fitted on a long handle so you can cut high-up branches too large for the pruner. We carry a whetstone and a large jar of rubbing alcohol in our pruning box. When we stop to rest a moment we run the whetstone over the cutting blade of the shears, loppers, etc., dip the cutting parts into the alcohol to clean and sterilize them and for tools too large to be dipped we wipe with an alcohol soaked rag.

We often speak of the flowering cherries as low maintenance plants as they do not have to be pruned unless an occasional branch interferes with traffic.

Campfire Project

More than 150 Camp Fire Girls representing 50 different groups in San Mateo County gathered in Junipero Serra Park in San Bruno to plant 80 shade trees.

The girls purchased many of the trees with funds earned from their 1967 Camp Fire Candy Mint sale. Girls from all levels of the Camp Fire program participated from Blue Birds to Horizon Club, including Mrs. A. Pellizzer's Camp Craft Specialists who will help to teach these skills at Day Camp this next summer.

Located on a knoll overlooking the new Junipero Serra Freeway, the trees not only will provide shade but will hold soil and eventually a sound baffle.

Supervisor Jean Fassler, a member of the President's Highway Beautification Commission was an interested onlooker.

The project was initiated by Mrs. Robert Hess, Junior Hi Guardian of San Carlos, who made all of the arrangements with the Camp Fire groups and the county park authorities.

Stickup Note Found; Thief Flees Bank

"This is a stick up!"

So read the note that customer Gary Thompson of Daly City found near a teller's window at the Colma Branch of the Bank of America, 7395 Mission Street, Wednesday.

Thompson, according to Daly City police reports, handed the note to the teller, Ann Carlson of Daly City, who turned it over to police.

The police had been called to the bank in regard to a civil incident, in which a repossession victim was said to possibly possess a weapon.

The teller had just returned from lunch and Thompson was the first in her line to make a deposit.

It was theorized, according to reports, that a would-be hold-up man was standing at Teller Carlson's window and was frightened off when the five policemen entered the bank.

There were several persons in the bank and it was not possible to note the departure of the possible stick-up man.

Crash Fatal To Cyclist

Cecil O. Marion, 43, a teamster of 67 Eastwood Avenue, Daly City, died in Mary's Help Hospital last Wednesday of injuries suffered in a motorcycle accident in Daly City last Saturday nigh.

He died in the intensive care unit without regaining consciousness.

Highway patrolmen reported that Marion was going too fast on his motorcycle because of fog conditions when the front wheel struck a curb at Skyline Boulevard and Cabrillo Highway. Marion was thrown off and suffered a fractured skull.

He is survived by his wife, Cecilia, and two children.

Los Angeles Rose Named Week's Plant

A new 1968 rose introduction named "Los Angeles Beautiful" and proclaimed the official rose of the City of Los Angeles by Mayor Sam Yorty, is The Post's Plant of the Week. The rose is being introduced by Germain's, Inc., pioneer Los Angeles horticultural firm.

Los Angeles' official rose has true royalty in its blood. Three of its ancestors, Queen Elizabeth, Charlotte Armstrong and Floradora, are All-America Award Winners, the highest honor in rosedom. Its immediate parent, Queen Elizabeth, a Dr. Walter Lammerts origination, was also introduced by Germain's, Inc. This rose was the world's first grandiflora and one of the nation's most outstanding varieties.

Los Angeles Beautiful owes its distinction to its constantly changing colors, beginning with the bright yellow, urn-shaped buds set off by touches of coral. As the blooms mature, the yellow coloration deepens and the coral tones intensify. Finally, the flowers are almost completely suffused with rich vermillion.

As befits its official status, Los Angeles Beautiful has already received many public honors, including the Los Angeles Municipal Art Commission's stamp of approval.

The new Valley Knudsen Garden recently dedicated at Los Angeles International Airport has been planted exclusively to three hundred Los Angeles Beautiful bushes, possibly the country's largest public planting of a single rose variety.

More than 2,000 gift plants of this rose have been sent by Mayor Yorty to the Mayors of 40 of the nation's leading cities for their parks and public gardens. Each planting has an attractive rose marker, identifying the rose and naming Mayor Yorty as the donor and Germain's Inc. as the introducer.

Professional rosarians who have observed advance plantings prophesy that Los Angeles Beautiful may become California's most successful variety not only because of the distinctive coloration but because the plants are so well adapted to local growing conditions.

The American Rose Society published the approval of the name "Los Angeles Beautiful" in the July 1967 American Rose Magazine, making this new rose eligible for entry in spring rose shows across the nation.

Two classes on Home Gardening and Landscaping will be offered by the Pacifica Park, Beach and Recreation Department beginning February 5.

The morning class will meet from 9 a.m. to 12 noon at the Community Room, Pacifica Library, Palmetto at Hilton, Sharp Park District, and will feature interestingfield trips to study gardens, outstanding landscaping, greenhouses and nurseries.

The evening class will meet from 7 to 10 p.m., at Oddstad Recreation Center, Crespi Drive and Barcelona, Linda Mar, Pacifica.

Instructor for both classes will be Francis M. Coe of Half Moon Bay, former Horticulture Instructor at the College of San Mateo.

Classes will feature lectures and demonstrations on home landscaping, flower growing, pruning, planting, propagation, grafting, container growing, design, fertilization, lawn management, pest control, how to grow lovely rhododendrons, camellias, azaleas, fuchsias and roses. Instruction will be illustrated with live plant materials, slide lectures, and plant exchanges.

Coe is a graduate of Oregon State University with an M.S. from Iowa State College. He taught and carried on research for over 25 years at Utah State University, Biarritz American University, France, and Army Education Center, Berlin, Germany, before coming to College of San Mateo, and is presently engaged in private landscaping and gardening work.

These classes offer an unusual opportunity for home gardeners and those with landscaping and gardening problems to learn successful methods and locally adapeted materials. New residents are especially invited.

Both classes will run for eight weeks. Registration fee is $5. Those interested may register at the Park, Beach and Recreation Office in Pacifica City Hall, or at the first class attended.

The Department also will be starting several other new programs in the next few weeks.

The activities will include bridge lessons, junior teen charm course, gymnastics and the children's theater puppet workshop.

Bridge lessons will start February 13, from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m., at Fairmont Recreation Center.

The lesson program is a 10-week series on beginning party bridge.

Each class will include lesson and actual playing time.

Instructor, Mrs. Pat Ostervar, reports that a lesson schedule will be available this week for anyone who is interested in taking the entire series or a single lesson in a specific problem area.

These schedules will be available at the Park, Beach and Recreation Department office. Cost for the 10-week course is $8, or $1 per single lesson.

Registration will be taken at the Recreation Department office or by contacting Mrs. Ostervar.

The Jr. Teen Charm Course will start in March and is to be held on Tudsays, from 4 to 5 p.m. at Fairmont Center.

The course will include work in the areas of grooming, make-up, hair, face and nail care, wardrobe and posture and exercise.

The course will culminate in an Easter parade of fashion and charm with all participants modeling and showing their newly formed charm.

The course will be conducted for six weeks and is open to seventh and eight grade girls.

Registration fee of $3 is now being taken at the Recreation Department office.

The Gymnastics program will be conducted on Saturdays for boys and girls seven to 12 years.

Classes are to be held at Oceana Gym from 1:30 to 12 noon and at Terra Nova Gym from 1 to 2:30 p.m.

The eight week program will start March 16.

Registration fee of $3 is being taken at the Recreation Department office.

The Children's Theater program is offering a puppet workshop for boys and girls starting the week of February 12.

The workshop will meet on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 3:30 to 5 p.m., at Oddstad Center. The workshop will include construction of puppets, scenery and props, development of puppet shows, and actual performances at the playgrounds during Easter vacation.

Children between the ages of seven years and up are invited to participate.

Registration will be taken on the first day of class. Fee is $2.

For further information on any of the programs contact the Recreation Department office, City Hall.

A junior and senior life saving class will be conducted by the Park, Beach and Recreation Department and the Coastside Region, Golden Gate Chapter of the American Red Cross.

The seven week course will be held on Mondays at Terra Nova High School from 7 p.m. until 10 p.m. beginning on February 19.

Registration for the class will be taken at the Recreation Department office beginning today.

The cost for the class will be $3.50 for residents and $4 for non-residents.

The fee collected is turned over to the Recreation Department to defray costs.

Requisites for the class are:

Junior — Must be 12 or in seventh grade and must pass swim test.

Senior — Must be 16 or in eleventh grade and must pass swim test.

Reservations Are Being Taken For Donor Luncheon

Mrs. David Wexler of Hillsborough and Mrs. Dennis Miklos of San Bruno are taking reservations for "Showtime at the Fairmont," the annual donor luncheon sponsored by Peninsula Temple Sholom Sisterhood.

Harry Grilley and Diane Berman, a husband-wife team, will headline the show which takes place February 13 at the Fairmont.

The couple, who have appeared at Purple Onion 2, have had lead roles in the San Francisco Opera Ring production of "Guys and Dolls," "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes," and "Once Upon a Mattress."

Appearing with them will be Dan Crismon and Ed Kline who will interpret flamenco and classical music.

Mrs. Harry Cohn and Mrs. Herbert Kessler are chairmen of the event.

Reservation deadline is February 3.

Franklin Pupils Staging Talent Show February 6

Benjamin Franklin students in Daly City will present their second annual talent show, under the direction of Mrs. George Good, as a feature of the P-TA's February 6 commemoration of Founder's Day.

After a brief business meeting at 7:30 p.m., the show will be opened by the school cheerleaders, Ardie Haines, Leslie Anderson and Debbie Thompson.

Thirty students of the seventh and eighth grades will display their talents as singers, instrumentalists, dancers. Three groups — "Just Sound," "The Outcasts" and the "Over Night Flight" — will perform.

Dist. Supt. Frank Greenwood will be guest speaker. In accordance with P-TA custom, an Honorary Life Membership award will be presented to a local citizen by Mrs. Robert Woodworth.

Mrs. Jim Jiminez, hospitality chairman, has planned a "cabaret style" evening, with decor on a French theme. Because a large attendance is expected, it has been decided that no children will be admitted, unless accompanied by a parent.

Sierra Club Speaker For Coast AAUW

The Pacifica branch of the American Association of University Women will present Dr. David Aiken of Woodside at 8 p.m., February 7, in the Community Room of the Pacifica Library.

Dr. Aiken, who is a member of the Speakers' Bureau of the Loma Prieta Chapter of the Sierra Club, will speak on the possibility of attaining National Parkway status for Skyline Boulevard.

Senators Kuchel and Murphy have presented a bill (S 2616) to Congress to authorize the Secretary of Interior to designate the Skyline National Parkway, and the Parks and Recration Subcommittee under Senator Bible will begin hearings on the matter in San Francisco.

A study of this was proposed in 1960, and was rejected, and local conservation groups feel that there is not much time left to preserve what an undersecretary of the interior described as one of the more scenic drives extending south of San Francisco. There is not, at present, a National Parkway west of the Mississippi, and there will need to be a great deal of effort on the local level to dramatize the need for immediate action on this matter. It is very difficult for anyone in Washington to realize how fast the urbanization of California's open spaces is becoming.

The AAUW meeting will start with coffee at 7:30 and the program will begin at 8 o'clock. Dr. Aiken has slides of the proposed Parkway area, and will be available for questions from the audience. The public is invited to attend and take part in the discussion. Mrs. Rudie Tretten is the hostess for February.

St. Veronica's Sets Program, 'Broken Circle'

The St. Veronica's Women's Club will break a long-standing precedent of "women only" by inviting men as well as women to their monthly meeting on February 1 at 8 p.m. in the school cafetorium.

A program, "Broken Circle," will be presented by the Bay Area Plays for Living Organization.

This association is a nonprofit voluntary organization that presents one-act plays written by nationally known playwrights, performed by professional actors, and concerned with dramatizing current social problems. Experienced discussion leaders help and guide the audience in exploring and clarifying the situation in the play.

"Broken Circle" is the story of a husband and wife, being driven by their earlier life experiences, ultimately jeopardizing their children's normal development by encircling them in critiicsm, distrust, and constant quarreling. It depicts a family counselor helping this couple recognize, understand, and overcome these problems, breaking the vicious circle.

Playwright Nora Stirling created "Broken Circle" and Family Servcie Association is the publisher.

Special guests for this evening are the members of the Christian Family Movement, President and Mrs. Raymond Jekot.

'Laugh' Topic Is Selected

"Joining With God in the Worlds' Last Laugh" will be Walter Stram's 11 a.m. message, Sunday at the Peninsula Church of Christ (Christian) in San Bruno, Angus Avenue at Mission. (Nursery for small children.)

Three inspirational groups, plus Teacher Training Classes are held at 6:30 p.m. on Sundays.

Bible Classes for all ages at 9:45 a.m. are ordered.

CSM Evening School Lists Spring Courses

College of San Mateo's evening program opens its spring semester the week of February 5-9, with more than 458 courses offered to part-time adult students.

The spring curriculum will offer increased emphasis on credit courses designed for persons working toward collegiate degrees. More than a quarter of the evening college instructors, said director George Manigis, are from CSM's regular day college faculty.

An enrollment of over 12,000 students is expected.

Class schedules listing all the courses, plus times, locations and teachers, are available at public libraries throughout the county.

No class preregistration is necessary; students sign up with the instructor at the first meeting. Classes typically meet for three hours one evening a week. Most carry units of college credit and all transfer courses are acceptable at universities and four-year colleges.

Special certificate programs are offered in business and industry, nursing, school teacher-aide training, ornamental horticulture, law enforcement, vocational gardening, real estate and fire science.

In most cases the only fee involved for the courses is the standard evening college fee for students over 21.

Persons who have questions regarding courses or their own selections may attend a group counseling session February 1 at 7 p.m. in the campus choral room.

Persons registering are cautioned by Mangis to have both social security and zip code numbers available.

NELL NORTON

(Sugar 'n Spice)

An Exotic Dish

Good morning, good cooks.

Last week's column ended with the promise that I'd include a delicious chicken recipe in this week's offering. True to my promise, here is a beauty.

It makes an exotic dish, with curry, almonds, tomatoes and many other interesting ingredients combined in the sauce. When I served this chicken I served with it an assortment of condiments, chopped peanuts, raisins, coconut and chutney. And steamed rice. It is really delicious and makes an eye-appealing dish also.

CHICKEN REGENE

2 fryers, about three pounds each
Seasoned flour and shortening in which to brown chicken
2 Tablespoons butter
1 medium onion, chopped
1 green pepper, chopped
1 clove garlic, minced
1 Cup dry white wine
1 teas. salt
½ teas. pepper
½ teas. chopped parsley
½ teaspoon curry powder (more if your taste dictates)
1 teaspoon thyme
2 cups canned tomatoes
½ cup currants
¼ blanched, salted almonds

Cut up the two chickens and roll in seasoned flour. An easy way to do this is to place the seasoned flour in a clean bag and shake the chicken in the bag.) Saute the chicken in shortening. When the chicken is nicely browned, place in a large casserole.

Prepare the sauce in the following manner. In a large skillet melt the two tablespoons butter, add the one chopped onion and one chopped green pepper and the minced clove of garlic. When the onion is golden and the green pepper tender, add the one cup white wine, one teaspoon salt, one-half teaspoon each pepper, parsley and curry powder. Add the one teaspoon thyme the two cups canned tomatoes, one-half cup currants and one-fourth pound blanched almonds. Simmer for about ten minutes and then pour over the chicken. Bake in 350-degree oven about 45 minutes.

NOW I WANT TO SHARE some delicious dessert recipes with you good cooks. As you know, desserts are a great favorite with me (and I have the figure to prove it), and I'm always on the lookout for new and interesting ideas.

This first dessert was new and interesting about 15 years ago when it was a bake-off winner. It is truly delicious and worth the extra time and effort involved in making it.

"OPEN SESAME" PIE

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
¼ cup cold water
1 cup milk
2 egg yolks
¼ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup pitted dates, cut very fine
¾ cup heavy cream, whipped
1 teas. vanilla
2 egg whites
2 Tbsp. sugar
Nutmeg
1 baked "Sesame" pie shell

Soften the one envelope of gelatin in the one-fourth cup cold water. Beat together the one cup milk, two egg yolks, one-fourth cup sugar and one-fourth teaspoon salt in the top of a double boiler. Cook over hot water, stirring until mixture coats metal spoon. Add softened gelatin; stir until dissolved. Chill until almost set, stirring occasionally.

Fold in the three-fourths cup whipped cream, one teaspoon vanilla, one cup chopped dates. Beat the two egg white until slight mounds form. Add the two tablespoons sugar gradually, beating after each addition. Fold stiff meringue into date mixture. Heap into cooled pie shell. Chill until firm, sprinkle with nutmeg before serving.

"SESAME" PIE SHELL

2 to 4 Tbsp. sesame seeds
1 cup sifted flour
½ teaspoon salt
⅓ cup shortening
3 to 5 tablespoons water

Toast the two to four tablespoons sesame seeds in pine pan in 325-degree oven for 8 to 10 minutes, until light golden brown. Remove seeds.

Sift together the one cup flour and one-half teaspoon salt. Add the sesame seeds. Add the one-third cup shortening and cut in with pastry blender until particles are size of small peas. Gradually sprinkle the 3 to 4 tablespoons cold water over mixture, tossing and stirring lightly with fork. Form into ball, roll out. Fit loosely in 9-inch pie pan, flute edges. Prick with fork. Bake 450 degrees 10 to 15 minutes, until golden brown.

THIS LEMON PUDDING is a joy. Easy to mix and fix and the result of your mixing and fixing is just delicious.

LOUISIANA LEMON PUDDING

3 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 cup sugar
3 eggs, separated
4 tablespoons flour
¼ teas. salt
½ nutmeg
3 tablespoons grated lemon rind
4 tablespoons lemon juice
1 cup milk
¼ cup light cream

Heat oven to 350 degrees. Grease a 1½-quart casserole and lightly sprinkle with sugar. Cream the three tablespoons butter or margarine; add the one cup sugar and beat until light and fluffy. Beat the three egg yolks slightly and add to the creamed mixture. Sift in the four tablespoons flour, one-fourth teaspoon salt, one-half teaspoon nutmeg, three tablespoons lemon rind, four tablespoons lemon juice, one cup milk and one-fourth cup light cream. (I used evaporated milk for the cream and it tasted delicious). Mix thoroughly.

Beat the three egg whites until stiff. Gently mix the egg yolk mixture into egg whites. Spoon into casserole. Set in pan of hot water and bake for one hour or until a knife inserted in side of pudding comes out clean. Makes eight scrumptious servings.

Camp Fire Girls Starting Annual D.C. Candy Sale

A Candy with a name that, appropriately, has monetary connotation goes on sale throughout Daly City in February, as Camp Fire Girls of the Golden Gate Council undertake their only supplemental fund campaign.

The candy is the mint, and — according to Letty Troia, San Francisco section candy sale chairman — the Camp Fire Girls hope to "make a mint of money" from the sales of dollar boxes of the candies to support their local program activities.

Packaged in colorful red, white and blue boxes bearing the Camp Fire emblems, the mint creams are made for the nationwide youth organization by Miss Saylor's Unusual Candies of Oakland.

This is the fifteenth year that Camp Fire Girls of the Golden Gate Council have been selling the chocolate coated candies to help raise funds needed to supplement their local budgets, Mrs. Troia said.

The candies are sold locally just one time during the year, she pointed out. Since they can be kept for long periods of time in a freezer, the Golden Gate Council is urging local residents to stock up with a supply for future enjoyment.

This year's drive officially starts Thursday and continues through February 29. During the sale period, Camp Fire Girls, working in pairs and wearing the traditional red, white and blue service costume of Camp Fire, will make door-to-door calls on their neighbors, basing their sales approaches on the slogan: One box for the table and one for the freezer.

Also, during the sale, sales booths will be set up in various sections of the community, through cooperation of stores and business firms which have volunteered to help the Golden Gate Council.

Candy Salesmen will include representatives of the four age levels of Camp Fire, Letty Troia said. These include the young Blue Birds, Camp Fire Girls, Junior High Camp Fire Girls, and senior Horizon Club

San Bruno Home Locale for Rites

Janet Mary Wainio and Leland A. W. Buddress recited their marriage vows recently before the Rev. William Dalton at the San Bruno home of the benedict's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Buddress.

Janet, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Wainio of Redwood Valley, wore a street-length dress of off-white French lace trimmed with satin. She added a short veil secured by white bows and carried a nosegay of pink and white roses and lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Arthur Friedman was the honor attendant for Janet in a pink sheer wool dress with pink sweetheart roses.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Wainio chose a yellow sheer wool ensemble. Mrs. Buddress chose a blue raw silk dress, and both pinned on pink carnations.

Loren A. N. Buddress served as best man for his brother.

The couple has delayed their honeymoon until June when they will travel to Seattle. They will live in Berkeley where the bridegroom is a senior at the University of California.

The new matron graduated from Ukiah High School and the University of California. She has a brother, Kenneth Wainio. Her husband, a graduate of Hillsdale High School, is a member of Delta Sigma Pi fraternity.

D.C. Cancer Unit Plans Meetings

Family Life

By ERNESTINE TIERNEY
Daly City Unit,
American Cancer Society

What will you do if you or a loved one suddenly discovers in 1968 that cancer has struck? Your chances of getting it are one in four.

A horrible thought with which to start a new year, but, before the year ends, you may be a cancer statistic, or a member of your family, or a friend or an acquaintance.

When it strikes, can you tell yourself you did everything possible to educate yourself and your family with the seven warning signals?

The American Cancer Society (ACS) urges you to have a medical checkup annually, no matter how well you feel; to learn cancer's seven warning signals and to go to your doctor immediately if any of them lasts longer than two weeks.

They include: (1) unusual bleeding or discharge; (2) a lump or thickening in the breast or elsewhere; (3) a sore that does not heal; (4) change in bowel or bladder habits; (5) hoarseness or cough; (6) indigestion or difficulty in swallowing and (7) change in wart or mole.

Late in July of 1965, several Daly City women who had worked as volunteers for the San Mateo Branch of the ACS joined forces to form the Daly City Unit to the ACS.

Their purpose was to help educate the community to cancer's seven warning signals by means of educational films available to any group or club in our community upon request.

Any organization in Daly City wishing to have a film showing may contact Mrs. Louis Giusti, education chairman at 9 Castillejo Drive, Daly City. Mrs. Giusti will arrange a film showing with a doctor in attendance to answer questions after the film.

The ACS maintains a Loan Closet in San Mateo that gives dressings and loans hospital beds, wheelchairs, crutches, and most any medical item needed at home for the cancer patient. Anything borrowed is free of charge to any cancer patient — no matter what his financial situation.

Another phase of the Unit's program is a transportation corps to aid Daly City cancer patients who have no one to drive them to the hospital for radiation treatments. The Daly City Unit has about 22 active "Freewheelers." The "Freewheeler" picks up the patient at their home — drives to the hospital — waits for them — then drives them home.

Under the direction of the Unit's Transportation Chairman, Mrs. C. W. Demaree, 65 Oceanside Drive, Daly City, "Freewheelers" have made 360 trips driving six patients in a five-month period from August 1967 to December 1967. Each patient requiring radiations treatments five days a week for a priod of six weeks.

To meet the demand for volunteer drivers, the Unit will conduct an "Orientation" for new drivers, in the classroom of Mary's Help Hospital, Daly City, on Friday, February 2 at 10:30 a.m. Th Orientation will consist of a 20-minute film about volunteer driving and the cancer patient, followed by a brief talk by Lani Turver, service director of the San Mateo ACS. Prospeective drivers and interested persons are invited to attend.

The ACS Unit meets the third Monday of each month at 45 Southgate Avenue, Daly City, at 10:30 a.m. Following is a calendar of meetings and events slated by the Unit for 1968:

February 2: New Driver Orientation — 10:30 a.m., Mary's Help Hospital Classroom — 45-minute program.

March: Two-Day Cancer Education Exhibit (date s to be announced).

March 19: Luncheon; public invited, $1 donation, Lake Merced Boat Club; noon to 2 p.m.

April 15: "Breast Self-Examination." Free film at Serra Theatre, Daly City, 1 p.m. Free child care at Serra Bowl.

May 20: "Sense in the Sun." Free film about skin cancer; election of unit officers, 45 Southgate Avenue, Daly City.

June, July and August — no meetings.

Westlake Catholic Women Set for Fashion Show

Mrs. Albert Fambrini, chairman of the Westlake Catholic Women's fourteenth annual fashion show and luncheon, and her committee have put the finishing touches on the day, "Thank Heaven for Little Girls."

The February 3 show will begin at noon in the Grand Ballroom of the Fairmont Hotel. H. Liebes has readied some of the latest fashions to be worn by 15 women from Our Lady of Mercy Parish. The show will also feature six junior models.

Mrs. Frank Kelechava and Mrs. Anthony Formosa have hand-picked some 32 hostesses to show guests to their tables that will be decorated with tiny dolls and pastel frills.

Charles Gould and his Satin Strings from Reno will provide the background music for the afternoon.

Among awards to be distributed at intervals during the show are $500 cash, a portable TV and a round trip for two to Disneyland.

All proceeds will benefit Our Lady of Mercy Building Fund.

Voters' League Sets 'Know County' Topic

"Know Your County" will be the theme of the Provisional League of Women Voters meeting scheduled for 9:30 a.m. on February 8, at the South San Francisco Library, 840 Orange Avenue, South San Francisco. The public is invited to attend.

The San Mateo County Charter has been cited nationally as a model for county reform. The county government carries out state laws and performs state functions at the local level and oversees local projects extending beyond city boundaries.

Bay front, agriculture and green belts in the foothills and coastal development are but a few of the controversial areas to be discussed. Members and guests are urged to bring up other topics for discussion.

Although the league is almost 50 years old nationally, the Provisional League of Women Voters of North San Mateo County originated less than two years ago. Since that time i thas grown to 85 busy, active members.

Before acquiring full league status an extensive community analysis study must be completed. This has been accomplished by each unit, Pacifica, Daly City, South San Francisco, and San Bruno and a "know Your Town" booklet will soon be published.

Currently the league is striving to reach a goal of membership of 100, a final requirement for recognition by the nationla and state organization as a full fledged league.

For league members, the ultimate goal of any action is promotion of political responsibility through informed and active participation of citizens in government. This is accomplished through Voters Service and study programs with "non-partisanship" the key word.

"Women Voters" are the two qualifying words for league membership, and there is a place for every woman of voting age, even if it is only attending meetings to better inform herself. Through the league women may become well-informed citizens and learn to participate more actively in government.

Lioness Club Officers Are Installed

Colorful installation ceremonies ushered in a new roster of officers who will conduct the affairs of the Lioness Club of Daly City-Colma for 1968.

Mrs. Margaret Alphin was inducted as president; Mrs. Gladys Neville, vice president; Mrs. Anne Ingersoll, treasurer; Mrs. Nanda Stewart, recording secretary; and Mrs. Carol Smith, corresponding secretary.

Installation took place Saturday evening at the Lakeside Country Club with Attorney John Putkey, past president, Daly City-Colma Lions Club, serving as installing officer.

Joe Mottola, also a past president of the Daly City Lions, presented trophies to each of the Lioness Club past presidents who've presided since the women's auxillary of the Lions Club was founded in 1959.

Trophy recipients are Mesdames Ted Weibel, Ray Charette, Joseph Rohl, Janet Knapp, Florence Hopman, Ray Logan, and Josephine Putkey.

Most members of the Lions Club of Daly City attended the affair and three Lion delegates who were attending a regional Lion convention in Reno, cut short their visit to participate in the gala ceremonies. These were Lions Ray Logan, Joe Rohl, and Ron Smith.

The new Lioness president is the wife of George Alphin, an executive of the Daly City Water Department. She succeeds Mrs. William J. Scanlon who was accorded an ovation after being cited for the "splendid work she did for the Lioness Club, the Daly City-Colma Lions Club, and for her efforts to make the community a better place to live, to work, and to raise our children."

Mrs. Scanlon is director of "The Troubadors."

KIM E. OLSSON

Jaycee of the Week

By LINDA MARCHESE

Forty members of the Pacifica Jaycees are donating their time and energy to the improvement of their city and the betterment of the citizens of Pacifica.

The Jaycees are strictly a young thinking organization, their ideas are fresh and modern. "Of the approximately 40,000 people living in Pacifica today the large majority range from the ages of 25 through 28" and in this community of young people we need a young city government unstuffy, without traditions that hamper progress.

"The purpose of this organization is to improve the community, do things for youth, put Pacifica on the map and, train young men to become leaders in their community," this was the definition of the Jaycees as told to me by Frank Terranova, assistant principal of Oceana and director at large of the Pacifica Jaycees.

They have accomplished many of their goals for city improvement, new playgrounds for children, family activities such as the Rodeo by the Sea, and Athletic Day; they hope to be able to continue, as in the past, with their fund-raising and fund-spending activities.

Last week, January 21 through 27, was National Jaycee Week and in commemoration of this event The Post is featuring leading Jaycees and the roles they play in the community.

WILLIAM FEENEY of 1090 Barcelona Drive, 36 years old, a real estate appraiser for Equitable Life Assurance Society of United States, San Francisco; he and wiefe Nancie and their three children have livd ein Pacifica eight years; charter president of Pacifica Jaycees, active in civic, educational, municipal, as well as political functions in community; Pacificas' Outstanding Young Man of Year in 1966.

THE PENNEY STORY

Should you throw away your iron or keep it as a door stop?

By ROBERTA NASH

Perhaps your iron isn't obsolete just yet. But with Penn-Prest, most women never iron at all. They just let their dryer do the ironing.

(Of course, if you haven't a tumble dryer, you may have to touch up in some cases. But just a touch up.)

Please don't confuse Penn-Prest with some other 'permanent press' process that may have disappointed you. This one is different.

The J. C. Penney Company stands behind it.

THE "BOOK HAPPENING" will happen February 5 to 10 in the San Bruno Park School District, with possibly the district's entire 4093 enrollment of children to see it at the War Memorial Recreation Center in San Bruno. The Happening is co-sponsored by all the P-TA's in the district. Mrs. Harold C. Gregory, member of the John Muir School P-TA, showed District Superintendent George J. Lowry, center, and Director of Administration Edwin J. Vallier some of the offerings. Proceeds from the sale of books will go to the district school libraries. (Post Photo)

Busy Week For DMV's

This week through February 5 is likely to be an inconvenient time for motorists to apply for or renew their drivers' licenses, according to John Krieger, manager of the Department of Motor Vehicles' office at 53 Southgate Avenue, Daly City.

He explained that these are the final seven working days (counting Saturday, when the office will be open in the morning) during which Californians can renew their 1968 vehicle registrations without penalty.

"If corwded parking condition sand long lines at th ecounters don't discourage a person, he is certainly welcome to come in and get his driver's license," said Krieger.

"The service will still be available, although we will be concentrating on validating vehicle registrations."

He pointed out that a California motorist who applies for renewal early (up to 6 months) will get a driver's license with the same expiration as if he had renewed on its expiration date—his birthday.

"With that sort of leeway," concluded Krieger, "nearly everybody who needs a new or renewed driver's license can schedule himself to avoid the final auto registration rush."

A Weekly Class In Writing To Be Offered

Beeginning and advanced writers are invited to attend the weekly class in "Writing for Publication," part of the adult education program that will begin February 5 at 10 a.m. at Westmoor Park Clubhouse on Edgemont Street, Daly City.

This is a workshop covering fiction, non-fiction and poetry to be taught by David Schuman.

In its third year, the class has been exceptionally popular. Among those who were published for the first time are Norma Lashley, Jean Merryfield, Barbara Jean, Leah Sharp ,Margaret Richardson, Barbara Mikolavich, Jackie Ashley, Dorothy Radoff and Wanda Tucker. Also, several novels were completed.

The former teacher, Helene Schellenberg is now teaching in San Lorenzo and Fremont.

First Western Honors Macchia

Frank Macchia, manager of First Western Bank's Westlake Office, has been inaugurated into the $900 million Bank's Presidents' Club.

This is an honorary organization originated to recognize outstanding achievement by bank officers in the area of business development.

Macchia and his wife, Dolores, were guests of bank president Stafford Grady at a banquet given to honor the Presidents' Club members at the International Hotel in Los Angeles.

Membership in the Club is awarded only to those bank officers who surpassed their sales quotas for 1967.

Westside Group To Attend Meet

The Annual Women's Retreat, of the Northern California Baptist Conference Women, will be held Friday at the Mt. Hermon Conference Grounds, in Santa Cruz, with a number of women from Westside Baptist attending.

The men's prayer fellowship will meet at the church parsonage, 3370 Longview Drive, San Bruno, February 3, at 8 p.m.

The ordinance of the Lord's Supper will be observed at the February 4, 11 a.m. worship hour.

This week has been proclaimed a Youth Week in the Conference churches, so at the communion service, junior deacons will serve in place of the appointed deacons.

They will include Ken Patton, Ron Swedberg, John McDaniels, Bob Swedberg and George Bradley.

Bill Anderson, student worker, will assist.

Pastor A. David Donnelly will talk on "Liberty in Bondage." Special music will be provided by the Ladies' Trio, consisting of Mesdames Swanson, DeLung, and Anderson.

At this service also, Pastor Donnelly on behalf of the Church Fellowship will welcome into the fellowship, Mr. and Mrs. Ken Patton of 451 Glasgow, Pacifica.

Primary Church, a service designed for boys and girls, four through seven years of age is directed each Sunday by Mr. and Mrs. Bill Anderson. A nursery for babies and toddlers is provided during the adult worship hour.

Westside Baptist Church provides age-graded, Bible-centered Christian education for the entire family. Thirteen classes meet each Sunday at 9:45 a.m.

During this hour, Pastor Donnelly will conduct his last in the current series of church membership orientation classes.

The Board of Deacons will meet at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at the James McDaniels home, 428 Glasgow, Pacifica.

Religious Inquiry Classes

St. Veronica's parish will offer a series of religious inquiry classes for adults starting February 5, from 8 to 9 p.m. and continuing each Monday evening at the same times for approximately 12 weeks.

The class will meet in room 8 of St. Veronica's school, located on Alida Way, South San Francisco.

A special adult textbook on church catechetical teachings will be provided.

The class is open to all non-Catholics, and to Catholics as a refresher course.

Father Angelo DeManti, moderator for the series, has announced that the topic for the first evening will be "The Need of Religion."

THE LARGEST AND FINEST GIFT SELECTION IN THE BAY AREA

Bay Area Transit—White Elephant or Salvation

By FRANK LaPIERRE

(Second of a Series)

AN ESTIMATED 44 per cent of San Mateo County's work force is employed outside the county and this figure is growing at what experts call "a phenomenial rate."

San Francisco is the important drawing card for Peninsula residents who commute to work daily along the increasingly congested Bayshore Freeway — earning some $770 million in 1966 and bringing it back into the county to spend at local shops.

With the partial opening of the Junipera Serra Freeway some of this congestion has been relieved, but only for a short period, experts predict.

The bottleneck that is called the Alemany-Army Street area snarls an estimated 156,000 cars trying to enter San Francisco daily, according to State Highway District Engineer Alan S. Hart.

Total cars using North County roadways into that city is estimated at 172,000 daily, a recent survey disclosed.

The few lateral roadways binding the western coast of the county with the Bay side are always choked with cars at "peak" commuter periods and during special events (such as Bay Meadows during the racing season).

San Francisco International Airport draws another 24,000 cars on an average day, mostly from the more than 25,000 persons employed there. However, a substantial number of passengers and "airline commuters" also contribute to this traffic mess.

And while Hart tells of new county freeways to come (Skyline and possibly a bayfront roadway), along with several new laterals and expressways tying cities together along the narrow Peninsula corridor between San Francisco and Santa Clara counties, he hopes the Bay Area Rapid Transit District (BARTD) "can take some of these commuters off the roads."

Bleaker Each Year

The State bases its road planning on 20 year increments. With the mountain number of cars using county roadways the picture appears bleaker each year, a highway department spokesman sadly noted.

Whether "rapid transit" will improve this situation is the subject of much discussion, not only among the experts but also county residents who must foot the bill for any such venture.

West Bay Area Rapid Transit (WBRTA) director and Daly City Councilman Micheal DeBernardi thinks there has been "too much talk (by WBRTA) about rapid transit and not enough about mass transportation."

Voters Cold

In other words, DeBernardi and others closely associated with the so-called "transit picture" in the county, feel the voters will not pass a whopping bond issue (perhaps as high as $500 million) for a rapid transit system down the center of the Peninsula which will serve only a small fraction of the citizens — mostly commuters in the morning and evening.

"We should be discussing mass transportatoin — an efficient system of moving masses of people from one area to another," DeBernardi explained.

BARTD saw the problems their fixed rail system would create in the counties it will eventually serve and, together with AC Transit (Oakland) and San Francisco's Muni, initiated the Northern California Transit Demonstration Project study two years ago.

Spells Out Means

The voluminous (222 pages) NCTD report outlines present and future transit needs of the counties and spells out ways and means of connecting such facilities with BARTD.

"Without supporting transit services in these communities BARTD just will not perform its complete goal," Stanton Theis, of BARTD, recently pointed out.

San Mateo County residents will be asked to vote on a single transit proposal in June 1969. This proposal will be selected by WBRTA directors from four proposals recommended following studies by DeLeuw, Cather & Company, Stanford Research Institute, and George Nolte Consulting Engineers.

Pacifica Councilman Harland Minshew expresses unhappiness over progress of WBRTA and asks "why should Coastside citizens be required to help pay for a busing service to our city — something we already have (Greyhound and El Mar Transit?"

Minshew said the Coastside is expected to grow tenfold in the next two decades "and we should be shown a plan that will provide a system able to expand with us — not a fixed rail system running down the east side of the county with an occasional bus to Pacifica."

Regardless of what type of system the directors finally decide to place before the voters it will undoubtedly cost money — lots of money.

Financing

"And this county just can't stand a heavy financial burden at this time," DeBernardi said. "We must be able to get help from an outside source, perhaps the federal government."

WBRTA's General Manager John C. Lilly said he has so far come up with 14 ways to get money to fund a transit system, although there have been no cost figures disclosed as yet on any possible system that might be used on the Peninsula.

The Outside Work Force Is Growing

If a fixed rail system is the choice of the directors, "air space" over such a system can be leased to various agencies, Lilly said in citing one method of holding costs down.

What most persons involved with rapid transit projects are hoping for is federal or state aid.

In some cases Title Two federal funds are available to transit, airport and highway construction projects. The Association of Bay Area Governments (ABAG) has been designated as the area-wide agency to review and comment on all such grants, a recent report disclosed.

Report

Bay area Transportation Study Commission (BATS) director Richard Zettel in a November report pointed out:

"The Federal Urban Mass Transportation Act of 1964 provides that federal grants for mass transportation may not be made unless the facilities and equipment for which assistance is sought are needed for carrying out a program for a unified or officially coordinated urban transportation system as a part of the comprehensively planned development of the urban area.

"If the full requirements are met the applicant is eligible for a two-thirds grant of the project cost; if not, the grant is limited to one-half of the cost. The Bay Area has not qualified for the two-thirds grant," Zettel said.

Lilly hopes the district will somehow qualify for such federal assistance so the system will not become "a tremendous financial burden on property owners."

However, unless San Mateo County can design a system compatible with Santa Clara County to the south and BARTD projects in the north, it is highly unlikely WBRTA will receive any funding from outside sources.

While BARTD's development plans, already underway, are clear, Santa Clara County will not have a comprehensive transit study plan ready until late spring of 1969—after San Mateo County voters have been asked to cast their ballots on WBRTA's final proposal.

Fire Destroys Coast Barn

Fire of undetermined origin destroyed an old barn and its contents, including a Jeep, last week in Pacifica.

While the firemen were battling the barn blaze a water tanker vehicle about 100 yards away erupted into flames.

A spokesman for the Pacifica fire department said the vehicle's gas tank had been stuffed with wadded papers, which then were ignited.

The blaze was on property owned by Rhodes and Jameson of Oakland, but leased by Robert Cooper, fireman said — located west of the Coast Highway at the Reina Del Mar intersection.

A juvenile, spotting the fire, flagged down a patrolling Pacifica policeman, who relayed the alarm.

Horses normally kept in a corral near the barn apparently had been released before the fire, the fire department source said.

They were wandering in a nearby field.

The fireman attempted to save the vehicle inside the barn, but by the time they could remove the Jeep it already had been "considerably damaged."

Pedestrian's Injuries Fatal

Paul Gallegari, 78, of 677 San Mateo Avenue, San Bruno, died in Peninsula Hospital last week of injuries suffered in a traffic accident December 8.

Callegari was injured at San Mateo Avenue and Walnut Street when he was struck by a car driven by Alfred C. Olsen, 50, of 716 Mason Avenue, San Bruno.

The coroner's office said no relatives have been located. Callegari, who was a part-time janitor in a cocktail lounge, lived alone.

Rams Leading NPL Soccer

The Westmoor Rams moved ahead in North Peninsula League soccer last week with a 5-0 win over Terra Nova.

The Rams ended their first five-game round of competition with four wins and one tie, moving ahead of South San Francisco after the Warriors dropped a game to Jefferson, 2-0.

Westmoor and South San Francisco High tied in their first meeting of the season.

Thumbing Through Mags

We have a pile of ancient sports magazines through which we thumb once or twice a year in order to maintain our perspective of the contemporary sports scene. For instance:

How fleeting fame is. (An article in a 1949 Sports Illustrated publication which lasted less than a year and was published by Dell; not to be confused with the current Time-Live, etc. publication.

How fleeting fame is.

An article in a 1949 Sports Illustraged (a publication which lasted less than a year and was published by Dell; not to be confused with the current Time-Life, etc. publication) explaining how the bonus rule was plaguing baseball.

Some of the big bonus boys who were supposedly going to ruin the whole major league system were Johnny Antonelli, Dick Wakefield and Frank House, all long since retired, and none of whom hurt baseball.

Among other big bonus boys mentioned were William Buck Allen, who had twice pitched no-hitters against Antonelli one-hitters while the two were high school rivals, and Paul Hinrichs, a much publicized Yankee bonus baby of the time. Nobody ever heard of the latter two again.

One of the more interesting aspects of the article concerned some comments on the Eddie Ford, a young Yankee farm hand who hadn't received a bonus, who had been steadily moved up through the system rather than having to sit the big club bench like the others, but who might, the magazine predicted, work out better than all the rest because he was learning the game properly.

"The Yankees," said the article, "figure that if nothing goes wrong, if Ford continues to improve, he will be ready to pitch in the big leagues by 1950. Then they will bring him up and put a Yankee uniform on him.

"If Ford never is good enough to pitch winning ball for the Yankees, then (they) have not gambled and lost a large investment. If he is good enough . . . then Ford, in the long run will make more money than a pitcher who accepted a big bonus, but who was out of his class in the majors and never became proficient."

RARELY HAVE a baseball front office and a sports magazine conjectured so accurately. Eddie Ford, of course, became Whitey Ford, and improve he certainly did. He was brought up to the big club in 1950, compiled a 9-1 record in half a season and became one of the World Series heroes that year, and for years to come. Yes, Whitey Ford did in the long run, make more money than if he had accepted a bonus, and the fact that he will certainly enter the Hall of Fame does speak for I in this instance — the school-of-hard-knocks upbringing, and of course testifies that Eddie Ford was good enough to pitch for the Yankees.

Another example of perspective: How athletes become images instead of people.

For example, in the same Sports Illustrated there's a story on Casey Stengel, the new manager of the New York Yankees. In this article, in keeping with the image of Yankee class, Stengel is portrayed as a keen minded, articulate baseball man attempting to make a comeback in the big leagues after a previous failure with the Boston Braves; not as the grizzled old double-talking, clowning wizard of platoon baseball and other mystiques ranging from short fingered Chinamen to sleeping during rallies.

Of course, there are the examples of things never really changing. An article about how big men were ruining basketball, another one explaining why Texas produces such good football players, and the inevitable story telling how old Satchel Page REALLY is.

And, finally, a reminder of how ironic the sports world can be: A story about Adolph Rupp's great Kentucky basketball team entitled, "Kentucky's Pore Little Boys," . . . "just normal, all-around athletes."

This was the same team which was soon to become involved in the biggest basketball fix scandal of all-time.

If Bill Smith, Pacifica's nationally known wrestling coach who has been asked by Canada to give up his American post as Olympic wrestling coach for a similar job with them at $12,000 (as opposed to room and board with our side), wants our advice we'd grab the 12 thou.

It's about time that we drop the hypocrisy and start paying "amateurs" like everyone else does — and like we do in areas such as tennis. America pays big for everything else. Why it should balk at a measly few million, which is all it would cost to produce an unbeatable Olympic squad, we'll never understand.

LITERARY DEPARTMENT: We didn't even receive a complimentary copy of it so we have no stake in whether you make a purchase or not, but if you want to read one of the greatest books about sports ever written, read "Paper Lion" by George Plimpton.

Plimpton is the real life Walter Mitty who likes to place the average sports fan — himself — in big time sports situations.

You may remember his book "Out of My League," in which he took the mound for the Yankees. He once boxed Archie Moore. Now he's branching out, doing things like leading the New York Philharmonic. But in "Paper Lion" he's the "last string quarterback" for the 1963 Detroit Lions.

Plimpton is a fine writer. He makes you feel like quarterbacking a NFL team is happening to you. He makes you laugh and cry and see those armoured monsters as human, believable, amusing people. And you learn so much about how difficult the professional game really is, that after reading the book you may never again with conscience criticize a pro player.

THAT BASKETBALL HASSLE over at Cal isn't concentrated solely in basketball, and is a bigger issue than Bear pivot Bob Presley. In fact, it's bigger than the University of California. Unfortunately, coach Rene Herrerias, Mr. Nice Guy of all time, is getting caught in the squeeze and may end up Mr. Fall Guy of all time.

SPEAKING OF CAL, the rumors that George Wolfman, who brought a national baseball championship to the Bears in 1957 (Al Reynolds, Westmoor science teacher, was the star outfielder of that squad), is preparing to retire and concentrate on his lucerative San Francisco-based advertising firm, are untrue.

"I love it too much to quit," says Wolfman.

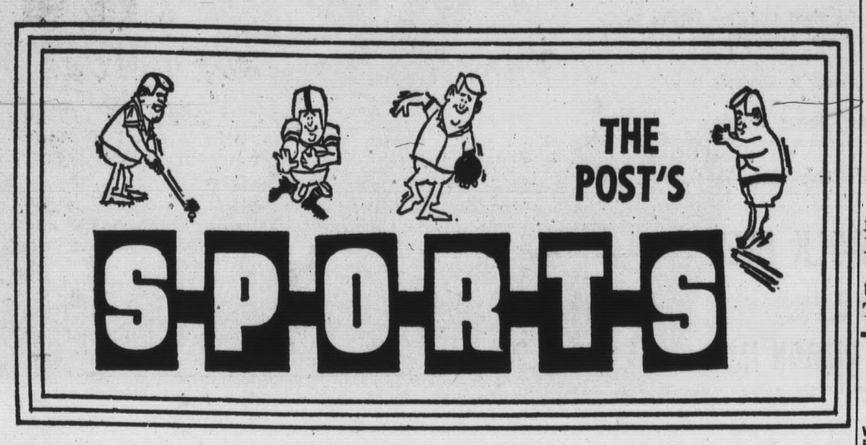
THE 1968 NEW YORK MET playing roster lists 11 Californians among its 42 eligible players.

Five of the 19 man pitching staff are "locals": Dan Frisella (San Francisco and San Mateo), Tug McGraw (Martinez), Al Schmelz (Whittier), Tom Seaver (Fresno), and Dick Selma (Santa Ana).

Half of the catching staff also hale from the Golden State: Steve Chilcott (Lancaster) and Greg Goosen (LA).

S.S.F. Eliminates Westmoor Threat, 72-58



Warriors Humble Rams With Ease

With but one game remaining in the first round of action, a revengeful crew from South San Francisco High School is in sole possession of first place in the North Peninsula League race.

Bill Purcell's defending champion Warriors, now 5-0 in the league, had surprisingly little trouble with rival Westmoor High School as they soundly beat the title-hopeful Rams, 72-58. The loss dropped Tony Giamonna's Rams into second place with a 4-1 record.

In other NPL action Friday, Oefana kept Half Moon Bay winless with a 61-48 verdict while Jefferson was defeating El Camino, 64-48.

Twice last year the Daly City Ram five had beaten the SSF team but Friday night the Warriors weren't to be denied. They never trailed after the opening tip and were tied just briefly at two-all and four-all.

"The key to our game was getting a quick lead on them and forcing them out of their pattern offense," said Purcell. "The whole team did an excellent job, especially Dick Young, who had his best game of the year."

Against the zone defense of the Rams the Warriors employed the dainty shooting of guard Steve Murphy and the rugged rebounding and offensive tips of forward Alex Smith to open up a quick 10-point lead. From there the lead fluctuated between 11 and 20 points as the Warriors were in constant command.

Team defense, the best the Warriors have played in two years, contributed heavily to the victory. Guard Bruce Brian put the clamps on outside-shooting Joe Anibale until the closing minutes when the matter wasn't in doubt. Good pressure by Young and center Steve Venters kept forcing costly turnovers by the Rams.

"They had a little too much of a lead on us this time," admitted Giamonna. "We had to play 'catch-up' ball right from the start after Murphy bombed us from the outside."

Both teams played in foul trouble from the start although no one was banished with five. Anibale was hampered with three in the first six minutes while Venters also had three before the initial quarter ended. Young and Murphy joined Venters with three by halftime while center Gary Soules managed a trio also by that time.

Venters, who didn't score in the first half, came on strong with 13 points in the second half as the Warriors were beating the Ram zone pressure for easy lay-ins.

Smith, the Warriors' sure-handed lay-in artist, surprised the Rams and just about all of the SRO crowd with four outside jumpers in the second half.

Jefferson, which has lost to both the Warriors and the Rams, kept in the shadows of the race with a victory over El Camino's ice-cold Colts.

The Indians pushed ahead to a 14-point halftime lead after the Colts had hit on just seven of 35 field goal attempts in the first half for a 19 percent average. Unable to get any scoring threat from any starter or reserve, the Colts fell to a 1-4 record and were eliminated from any title hopes.

Jeff's center Eddie Smith did another fine job both on the boards and scoring as he used his high-jumping ability for the 10-foot jumpers inside the key. The best the Colts could come up with was a 13-point burst by Bill Godkin. Frank Anderson, who had set a school record of 35 points last Wednesday, was held to nine by the pressing Indians.

Oceana kept what slim title hopes it has alive with a victory over Chuck Short's Cougars at Half Moon Bay. Tim Shershan and Charlie Nelson combined for 30 points to lead the Sharks while a tight defense allowed just four of the five Cougar starters to score.

The Sharks never trailed although a 22-point outburst in the third period by HMB pulled them to within five points of Rick Warne's team. But even with a healthy Ray Hartman and Tom Pacheco hitting 16 each, the Cougars couldn't pull any closer and dropped to an 0-5 record.

Fall To Knights

Mustangs Edged Out Of MPL Competition

By CHRIS STAVE
Post Correspondent

Talk of a Mid-Peninsula League championship may be the main topic of conversation at Hillsdale these days, but Knight coach Homer Zugelder isn't joining in.

Hillsdale, by virtue of a crucial 55-53 decision over Capuchino on the latter's court last night, now stands alone at the head of the MPL standings with a record of 5-0.

"We're not thinking about the championship at all right now," Zugelder said. "It's far too early for that. We still have to play Mills Wednesday to end the first round, and they beat Burlingame."

The Knights' victory at Capuchino was close enough to install pessimisum (and ulcers) in any coach.

The Mustangs, playing without All-League forward Roger Carmine who was home in bed, sick, started off slowly. By the end of the first quarter, center Rick Oliveira had collected three fouls, and Cap was short two starters.

Hillsdale broke the game open after that, outrebounding the Mustangs and working the inside well to complement the outside marksmanship of Rob Baker, high point man for the Knights with 18. Outscoring Cap 17-8 in the second quarter, the Knights left the floor at halftime with a 26-18 lead.

But in the third quarter, Cap started a full-court press which bothered Hillsdale for the rest of the night. On the outside shooting of Matt Kriletich and George Galdius, the Mustangs closed the gap to two points with 32 seconds left in the final stanza.

No one on the court except the referees knew what happened after that. After the clock showed that time had run out, play was started again three times. But Kevin Regan's half-court desperation shot hit high on the backboard, and the game was finally over.

"It's a shame about Roger (Carmine) though," said Zugelder. "It might have been a different game with him in there. We lost poise against the press, and I think that Cap did a whale of a job even without him."

Matt Oliver and Rick Wilkinson also hit in the double figures for Hillsdale, with 17 and 10 points.

For the losers, George Gladius shared high-point honors with Baker for the evening with 18, while Matt Kriletich scored 15.

Capuchino took the preliminary Class B tilt, 50-39.

Vikes Edge Falcons In Last Second

If Crestmoor High School basketball coach John Christgau is still shaking his head this week nobody can blame him.

The articulate mentor watched on last evening as a ten-point lead disappeared before his eyes in less than two minutes as Mills rallied for a 78-76 victory over the winless Falcons on the loser's court.

Crestmoor, with all five of its starters fouled out, held a 75-65 lead with 1:49 left in the ball game when the roof caved in on the game Falcons.

Mills exploded for 11 straight points to go ahead, 76-75 with eight seconds left. Crestmoor's Rick Tonini then drew a foul and with six seconds on the clock, sent the first one through to tie it up, 76-76.

Tonini's second shot was missed and the stage was thus set for a dramatic finish. Mills inbounded the ball with four seconds left and with just one second remaining on the clock, Mills' Dan Armenta let loose with a 25-foot jumper which fell through as the buzzer sounded, giving the Vikes the victory.

"I had five players fouled out and was going with the second stringers in the last few minutes," Christgau stated. "They gave me everything they had, but we couldn't quite hold the lead. Both teams played very well," he stated.....

While Armenta was the hero for Mills, Crestmoor was not without its impressive performer as Don Broga set what Christgau believes in an MPL record. The 6-2 Falcons gathered in 34 rebounds for the losers.

For Mills, it was their second win in five games, while the Falcons suffered their fifth straight loss.

TWO EX-SPARTANS WIN

Former Michigan State end Chuck Fairbanks coaches the Sooners and one of his assistants is Buck Nystrom, a former Spartan player.

Dog Show Set At Cow Palace

APPROXIMATELY 900 dog shows are held each year under auspices of the American Kennel Club. One of the top five in the country will be held February 3-4 in the Cow Palace. It is the fifty-eighth annual Golden Gate Kennel Club Dog Show.

Precisely 2,213 purebreds representing 110 of 116 recognized breeds have been entered in this year's show, a blue ribbon affair because all entrants must be previous blue ribbon winners to qualify.

Among unusual breeds entered this year are: Schipperkes, Belgian Turveren, Bernese Mountain dogs, Australian cattle dogs, English foxhound, American foxhound and Scottish deerhound.

A TOY POODLE won best-in-show honors the past two years. This year 44 toy poodles have been entered. The crowd follows a winner in dog shows as elsewhere.

A great champion can go for as much as $5,000. Some are not for sale at any price. Such was the case with Abeille, a bloodhound whelped in 1865.

Abeille carries the historic No. 1 in the American Kennel Club Stud Book, first published in 1874. Since then AKC registrations have passed ten million and new entries are approaching one million a year.

Because owners occasionally become jittery during judging events, they usually entrust their dogs to less emotional professional handlers who also are masters of makeup in preparing dogs for big events.

SOME YEARS GO a furor over faking resulted from a professional's skillful but illegal use of makeup. The pro artificially blackened the flesh-colored, or butterfly, nose of a Bull Terrier, a disqualifying fault in the breed.

Henry D. Bixby, then executive vice president of the AKC, put a prompt stop to such shenanigans.

"Are we awarding prizes for the best dogs or the best makeup jobs?" asked Bixby. "We ought to show dogs as God made them, not as a beauty parlor fixed them."

In addition to being a blue ribbon event, the Golden Gate Kennel Club's annual affair also is a benched show. At a benched show to which admission is charged every dog 12 months old and over must be on its bench when not in show or exercise rings. This gives spectators an opportunity to get close up looks of the dogs.

Trained dog acts, featuring Chester, a border collie, and Lord Nelson, English sheepdog of TV's Please Don't Eat the Daisies, are part of this year's show which again will spotlight the San Francisco Police Department's Canine Corps in action.

CSM Moving Up in GGC Standings

College of San Mateo is finding continuing success in its climb back up the Golden Gate Conference basketball ladder.

The Bulldogs took their second straight GGC victory last week, defeating visiting San Jose CC, 65-55, and now find themselves tied with Foothill for fifth place in the league at 2-4.

Things are also less congested at the top of the league standings with Contra Costa giving defending champion City College of San Francisco its second straight loss, 71-77, to take undisputed second place with a 5-1 mark.

Chabot barely remained unbeaten (6-0) with a last minute comeback victory over Foothill, 65-63. In the other game last week, Merritt gained a third-place deadlock with CCSF at 4-2 by downing Diablo Valley, 64-62.

Stanford Thanks Blood Bank for Aid

A thank you letter from Dr. William P. Creger, head of the department of hematology at Standford Medical Center in regards to the wonderful response for donors to heart transplant patient Mike Kasperak highlighted the annual meeting of the Peninsula Memorial Blood Bank trustees.

Dr. Creger in his letter to Mrs. P. J. Hanzlik, Blood Bank administrator, paid tribute to the staff at the Blood Bank and to the volunteers who contributed 151 pints of blood including 86 platelets (31 whole blood, 34 liquia plasma) in the desperate struggle to keep Kasperak alive.

President U. S. Simonds, Jr. who was re-elected to the post of Blood Bank president also noted that the Blood Bank received world wide attention in its work with the Stanford Medical Center and its heart transplant operation.

Nine new trustees joined the board bringing the total to 32. They included Dr. Eldon Ellis of Redwood City, new president of the San Mateo County Medical Society, Mrs. Stanford Hannah of Burlingame James E. Powers of Palo Alto; Peter F. Miller of Burlingame; Staurt J. Whittlesey, Jr. of Los Altos; Frank Lee Crist of Palo Alto; John F. Bohler of Atherton, Ernest N. Norback of Menlo Park; James C. Hickey of Hillsborough.

Re-elected to the top board posts along with Simonds were Dr. Robert O. Holmes, vice president; Robert A. Tarver, secretary, and Graham G. Adams, treasurer.

In his annual report Simonds noted that architects Stone, Malloy and Patterson are working on plans for a contemplated addition to the laboratory as recommended by Medical Director Edward Tueller.

The annual report revealed that there are 12 staff on full-time duty and 35 part-time staff members. There were 82 mobile units which collected 4,950 units last year, some 33 per cent of the total. Some 3,713 volunteer hours were contributed bringing the total for the past 25 years up to 163,944. Some 15,138 units of blood were processed in 1967 with 248,504 units of blood processed from the founding of the Blood Bank to January 1. Total individual donors reached the 95,250 mark for the past 25 years.

Simonds paid high tribute to the volunteer workers and donors, to the staff and also to the press and television and radio stations for their services. A letter of appreciation to the new media was approved unanimously by the board.

McCloskey To Speak At S.M. Dinner

Congressman Paul N. (Pete) McCloskey, R-Portola Valley, will be the primary speaker at a dinner to follow the dedication of a 22-mile stretch of Skyline Boulevard in San Mateo County as the second official Scenic Highway in California, February 8.

The announcement was made by George Dean of Hillsborough, chairman of the San Mateo County Scenic Roads and Parkways Committee.

McCloskey, elected San Mateo County's congressman last December, has been a strong supporter of the California Scenic Highway program.

Other speakers at the dinner, to be held at the Villa Hotel, San Mateo, include Gordon Luce of Sacramento, Transportation Agency Administrator on the state's regional Bay Area Transportation Study Commission; Ronald L. Campbell of Woodside, president of the San Mateo County Development Association and executive vice-president of the David D. Bohannon organization; Mrs. Joseph Fassler of Pacifica, member of the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors, and Supervisor James V. Fitzgerald of San Bruno.

Chicken's Ball In Rehearsal

Clad in blue smocks and black leotards, a snappy bevy of redheads, brownettes, blondes and black haired lassies dance across the stage of Central School these evenings rehearsing for their appearance in next month's San Carlos Chickens' Ball.

These representatives of the San Carlos Education Association, one of the eight acts to be featured in the show admitted through their director, Dulcie Morrison, they were having to work extra hard to catch up since November's conferences carried a priority.

Gina Nelson, whose fame in previous Balls is remembered by all who saw her, will head up the choreography.

The cast represents all elementary schools, averages about 27 years of age and approximately 34 in the vital statistics department. Two, Gwen Johnson and Dulcie Morrison, are experienced troopers, having been in the Education Association's act four years ago.

Lois Faucher is chairman of the association, which is affiliated with state and national associations of educators.

Chickens' Ball '68 will feature several firsts, among which is the Street Festival February 1 from 7 to 9 p.m.

Chaired by the local Jaycees, the event will be in the 600 block of Laurel Street and will featrue music and entertainment. Chuck Rachnagel, Jaycees chairman, is lining up talent for the evening.

"The secret of Fosters Farm-Fried Chicken," says the management of Fosters, 'is in the Blend of Spices which imparts a subtle seasoning to complement the natural goodness of crisp, golden-brown fried chicken. In the dredging, just a light sprinkle of spicy flour. No thick crust on Foster's Farm-Fried Chicken. In the Henny Penny cooker which controls time and temperature automatically, Foster's Farm-Fried Chicken is never under done, never overcooked always just right."

Entry No Surprise

IT CAME AS NO SURPRISE — Daly City businessman McRobert Stewart, whose slogan is "A Friend of Daly City," tossed his topper into the local political arena last week when he announced during a luncheon gathring of the Baccala Club that he was a candidate for a seat on the council. His opposition is veteran councilman Frank Pacelli and Anthony Giamonna, appointed last year to the council.

There had been rumors for some time that Stewart would run. He is presently an appointed member of the Planning Commission.

CITY PLANNER Edward Lawson, of Daly City, leaves his post today to take up his new duties with the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce. Lawson said he would likely continue to keep his "finger in the pie" regarding Daly City, because of certain joint projects between the two cities.

IT SEEMS D.C. is losing personnel faster than they can hire. There are presently two vacancies on the planning staff; some ten openings in the police department; and a like number in the fire department.

A RECENT EYESORE photo prompted a spokesman for the PG&E Company to phone and assure us utilities are being undergrounded (at great expense) as fast as possible. The giant utility company is "making efforts" to bury overhead wires, etc., in many areas of the North County, he said. That's nice!

SICK CALL — Recovering at San Francisco's Kaiser Hospital is D.C. Police Chief Roland Petrocchi's wife, Gloria, following surgery — Grand Jurist Ed Ollson's wife also recovering from a back operation at St. Luke's.

LOTS OF NERVOUS RESERVISTS (nervous in the service?) stumbling around the North County muttering to themselves these days. On the other hand, we know a couple people rarin' to go (officers, natcherly). What upsets these "Weekend Warriors" is not the idea of jousting with whatever enemy we happen to be jousting with this year, but the cut in pay. As an active AF Reservist I took the news of a possible call-up rather calmly, sat down with the Little Wife, and figured out a whole new budget (using my current AF pay scale). After we both had a good cry, I figured by moving into a tent, giving up our car and two meals a day, we could make ends meet — if the conflict didn't last longer than three weeks. Thanks to the H-bomb, maybe it won't!

D.C. SENIOR CITIZEN and prominent civic leader, Ann Eason, appeared before the council the other p.m. and thanked that body for "the help and generosity" extended during the past year. Mayor Benard (Bud) Lycett promised to continue giving whatever support the city could "to this fine club." Members of the senior citizens club have been active in many committees and study panels during the past year and have contributed much to the growth of the area.

BURYING THE NEWS? — A caller misunderstood Our Girl Friday last week when she answered the phone. Instead of "San Mateo Times" the caller thought she said "cemetery Times." Possibly a good idea for a Colma newspaper (???).

THE JEFFERSON ELEMENTARY SCHOOL District's M. Pauline Brown School may go on television one of these days with their nursery school program. In a recent letter to Dr. Larry Shephard, of the JESD, Glena Crumal, considered by many to be THE authority on pre-school education, suggested the district contact the Far Western Lab and make arrangements to have the school program video-taped for possible in-service or TV viewing.

JESD TRUSTEE-CITY TREASURER Joseph Lewkowitz will be honored next month at a Red Cross dinner. Lewkowitz has been associated with the service organization for more than 18 years.

IT'S NOT LIKELY the California Cable Communications Corporation will get the go-ahead from the D.C. City Council to erect two TV towers on San Bruno Mountain slopes. Some councilmen are asking (demanding?) to know why the company has not followed through with its service policy as outlined when the company first proposed operating in the city. Supposedly the company was to erect towers in other sections of the city before jumping across town to San Bruno Mountain.

FLASHY FLASH — San Bruno Postmaster Don Risso quitting his council post. Perhaps due to possible "conflict" between council and federal duties. The government has been known to take a dim view of citizens holding dual positions. Risso was named postmaster for that city last month.

WHY OH WHY — We saw another case the other p.m. of an elected official arguing with a professional about something he obviously knew little about. The question is: Why are these professionals retained at considerable cost to the taxpayer if they must stand and have their intelligence insulted (in this case by a school trustee) everytime they attempt to explain the "whys" and "wherefores" of a project? Seems to us the pro shouldn't have been hired in the first place if there is doubt concerning his qualifications.

NEWS ITEM DEPT. — Atty. Robert Hunter has strongly denied he is "campaigning for anyone" in the upcoming Daly City Council election. It had been reported in a local paper that Hunter was a community representative for Councilman Frank Pacelli. — Atty. Dave Friedenberg, head of the North Council Bar Association, is ready to get his campaign under way for a seat on the SSF Council. — And rumors are circulating that veteran SSF Councilman Emilio Cortesi won't be up for re-election with Frank Bertucelli and Guido Rozzi. (Rozzi hasn't filed yet.)

SAMUEL CHANDLER

(Daly City Librarian)

Legality of Swearing

In every one of the United States and in England, as well, it is still a legal offense to swear. Everytime someone forgets himself and utters as much as a big D—, he is publicly denounced. Yet, there continues to be vast numbers of swearers.

Thus it has been since men learned to speak. "Profanity has walked alone without hope or comfort in the future, staking all passionately in the present. Swearers like smugglers make their way alone across forbidden country."

"TO LET THE LIGHT OF DAY into this forbidden, misunderstood, and furtively pursued form of human behavior," Ashley Montague has produced a book entitled "The Anatomy of Swearing."

Perhaps the first word ever uttered was a swear word — a cry of pain or disgust or an angry growl. At least it is certain that before men developed an articulate means of communication there were already in existence certain emotionally high-charged sounds or expletives.

Montagu writes that one theory holds that anciently and presently swearing rises in the need to relieve oneself of anger or to give expression to one's feelings upon a sudden shock or surprise.

"This need is viewed fundamentally a physiological one and only secondarily psychological. Such expletive sounds were not invented by man, but are physiologically determined for him." Today such sounds occur, as it were, in spite of the taboos of society.

Another theory holds that there are words for objects and emotions that are accepted as proper in ordinary polite conversation. Other words are unacceptable. The taboo words slip underground to become profane. Sometimes, however, profane words move into respectability. Swearing then is the use of unacceptable words. One form of swearing that has been condemned from ancient times is the "usurpation of the names of the gods in vain usually in a curse."

ONE OF THE MOST useful parts of Mr. Montagu's book is his tables of classification of swear words.

1. Names of supernatural or internal powers of gods, angels, and devils.
2. Names connected with sacred matters.
3. Names or allusions to saints, priests, prophets, biblical characters, and persons conspicuous in church history.
4. Names of sacred places.
5. Words relating to the future life.
6. The names of ancestors and heroes, rulers, sovereigns, symbols of authority.
7. Oaths by natural objects and phenomena—sun, moon, stars, etc.
8. Vulgar words coming from parts and functions of the body that are not mentioned in polite society.
9. Words that are forbidden by tradition.
10. Expletives including words or phrases having unusual force for various reasons.
11. Names of animals, plants, and their products that are considered profane.
12. Oaths in the name of valued personal attributes.

Sensible Economy

A designer for Boeing's Lunar Orbiter project suggested that an interim six-year space exploration program ought to be initiated to maintain the nation's position.

Without such a project, according to William H. Kann, the entire planetary exploration program faces a vacation until at least 1975.

What he says makes sense. It has been the pattern in this country to schedule space programs in reaction to Russian space triumphs.

The tendency has been to go all out to catch up following such feats as the first satellite in orbit, first manned flight and space walking.

Such frantic reaction is costly and far less efficient than a well-planned continuing program of exploration.

As Kann points out, planetary probes between now and 1975 need not be elaborate. Relatively inexpensive projects can often be nearly as valuable as the giants.

Such a fill-in program could save money by providing new information on which to base future interplanetary missions.

'Short Cut' Disease

THERE are a lot of things in this world that are hereditary. And one member of our family — at least — thinks that a major disease called "Short Cuts" is one of the worst hereditary traits.

Especially as it involves us, as we zip in and out of deadend, rutty, cobblestoned streets in strange areas of Daly City and San Francisco.

Try to convince your passengers that "obviously, this street (or highway) will get us there sooner!"

"WHERE'S DADDY going, now?" inquiries the brightest of the children.

"He's taking a Short Cut," the Better Half replies.

"We're going to be Lost again, aren't we, mommy!" asserts one brave youngster.

"Yes, honey," is the silent meaning of the calm, yet understanding nod of mommy's head.

MOMMY THINKS daddy has come by his need to travel diversional routes honestly. Her father-in-law has that same exciting habit: that of pondering the dog-eared maps for extensive periods and finally determining after much analysis that "x" way is "shorter" than "y"; or that a combination of "a" and "d" and "g" routes would knock off "at least 35 miles" from the journey to somewhere.

But, the complaint of the riders is that be it 35 or 50 miles shorter the trip usually takes two hours longer—counting the time it takes to get out of the car, scan the strange green pastures, rolling hills, strange rocks, suspicious squirrels and the soiled road map. Not to mention turning around at the next farm house.

"He did it again, huh, mommy?"

CHAPTER II, Surfing (Contined from last week): The Linda Mar Beach in Pacifica is regarded by the young chap we bumped into as "a good spot for beginners," because of its relatively small waves in contrast to, say, Santa Cruz. And, for you squares, the young surfers don't mind bobbing about while it rains. "It's warmer," our "expert" says . . . and that does make sense, if you outlaw the sun — which Linda Mar gets more of than most Pacifica regions.

BERNARD Lake, secretary-manager of the Pacifica Chamber, is beaming this week.

"It's been a good month for membership," he declared, noting a figure of 162 has been reached. Goal is 200 members this year.

Lake also disclosed that the Board of Directors is completing forms for the Pacifica Chamber's admission into both the U.S. and California State Chambers of Commerce. They were invited.

People Eat Less

Cursory observation of the gastronomic habits of the American people reveals that they eat less than formerly, or eat different foods served differently. The snack, to a large extent, has replaced the dinner of oversized portions.

It could almost be said that people today practically inhale their breakfast and lunch, and while the evening meal on the whole is more pretentious, it does not approach the proportions of the provender-laden tables of old.

An evolutionary process in occupations as well as the mental approach to food have brought about this change in dietary habits of the American people. Fewer persons today engage in strenuous occupations that require heavy meals.

And more persons, especially women, are weight conscious. Perhaps the latter factor has been the most persuasive in directing the populace's attention to food or abstention therefrom.

A meal that required an hour to consume provided an occasion of unquestioned enjoyment, but the fun would be overshadowed today by the astronomical cost.

LORENE BEASLEY

(Better Business Bureau)

A 'Pushover' Interview

"You have been referred to us as an outstanding member of the community."

Flattered by the telephone call, the housewife was a pushover for a home interview.

It was easy selling for the attractive saleswoman, an expert in the art of name dropping and flattery and the "selected woman" who had visions of herself a future counterpart of the saleswoman, signed a contract for $300 worth of books. The books were necessary for future study groups to be formed.

When the housewife went to her first meeting she found many of her friends among the 100 or so other women who had also been told that they were "Specially selected."

THERE was much deflation of egos and more when the women learned they were to be left in charge of their own individual study groups with no outside teacher or lecturer to lead them.

Many dropped out of the group immediately and asked for the return of their money. They were told that they had signed a contract and would be held for the entire amount of money. When the books arrived from Chicago, some of the women returned them to the homeoffice only to receive letters threatening a lawsuit if the books were not paid for in full.

The Better Business Bureau does not minimize the value of owning good books. It does hold that prospective buyers of book sets should be warned that they are not a "specially selected group" of people given the opportunity to buy certain books.

There is a certain status tendency today to fill empty shelves with high-brow books.

BUY only if your children are the proper age level to benefit from the books. Consult your child's teacher or a librarian as to the proper encyclopedia for your child.

Some of the other "door-openers" used by subscription book publishers:

1. Ads, contests, drawing contests and coupons in newspapers and magazines.
2. The gimmick, "A good friend gave me your name." That may be a part of the special deal the friend entered into.
3. "Cold Canvass" or being called upon unannounced by a salesman who claims he is from the "advertising department" and is not a salesman.

BARBARA BLADEN

(Post Drama Critic)

Stewart: 'Good Guy'

Juarez, Mexico: Jimmy Stewart, more than any other man, personifies the All-American image.

His film portrayals alone mark him as a product of his heritage, whether he's playing a cowboy, farmer, politician or a family man. He's proud of that image and has preserved it over a 35 year career.

In "Firecreek," his sixteenth Western, he's a combination of all these characters but more contemporary because of having to face the problem of involvement: something every man, woman and child has had to face in recent years over many issues.

Talking with the six foot, three and a half inch actor intensifies this all-American image. A quick memory search produces only one film in which he has played a villain. It was in "After The Thin Man" in which he got thrown out of a window.

His loping stride, Pennsylvania drawl, mobile face now baggy and creased but ever ready to widen into a warm, handsome simile, are coupled with thoughful answers as the full charm of his personality was revealed during our breakfast interview.

"I got hooked on Westerns because its a statement on the movie industry. They go in cycles and if you're lucky and have some kind of an intuitive barometer, you can get in when the cycle begins," he commented.

"I made 'Destry Rides Again' and it was a success. Then after the war, gravitated to Westerns because people weren't going to see the kind of movies I'd made before that."

"Broken Arrow" was his first, "Winchester 73" followed. He has just finished "Bandolero."

WOULD HE PLAY THE ANTI-HERO if the script was good?

"No, I wouldn't. I see no reason to go against what I've done all my career."

In "Firecreek," he's coupled with Henry Fonda but not for the first time as the publicity states. They'd appeared together on Broadway years ago and in cameo roles for Hollywood's "On Our Merry Way." Fonda couldn't join the press party in Juarez because he's in Massachusetts filming "The Boston Strangler."

Stewart delights in comedy, would love to do one for films but got a shot at it on Dean Martin's final television show of the season.

"I sing and do a skit. It's very gay and Martin sure knows how to relax. He only comes to the studio one day a week, but comes totally prepared. We had a ball."

HE'LL RETIRE FROM THE AIR FORCE in May as a Brigadier General. Next on his schedule is "The Patton Story," in which he'll play General Omar Bradley.

"Gloria and I are heading for our 22-year-old son Ronald's graduation from Marine Corp Officers Training School in Quantico this week."

Some people would like to see him enter politics but Stewart denies any interest in that direction. He serves his country as a member of the Executive Board of the Los Angeles Area Council, Boys Scouts; on the Board of Directors of Project Hope; a trustee of Claremont College and a past trustee of Princeton University where he was graduated with a Bachelor of Science degree in architecture.

"My personal favorite was a film for Frank Capra called, "It's A Wonderful Life." John Ford has a theory that most of the good things that come out of movies happen by accident. First you take a group of people who know their craft, then you allow a chemistry reaction to take place."

His theory on the current trend towards vilence is that "we don't have to have all Disney films but we're doomed to lose audiences if people pick up a newspaper or are offered films with nothing but sex, vilence and strange, far-out stories. These new style Westerns like 'Fist Full Of Dollars' are more popular in Europe. There is nothing old-fashioned about morality or the hero winning out in a happy ending."

Incidently, "Firecreek" is an excellent film, a thinking man's Western that is full of old fashioned morality more applicable to modern times than ever before. Watch for it.

EYESORE OF THE WEEK

EROSION AROUND D.C. SCHOOLS is another type of "eyesore" that something can be done about. Engineer Bill Chapman, of Kirker and Chapman, recently revealed plans for rehabilitating and controlling erosion at several school sites in Daly City. Erosion has undermined the school boundary fence in this photo, exposed a water pipe (center) and broken through a cement culvert. Children have started "tunneling" on the exposed slope face (left foreground) presenting an additional danger. This situation is not limited to school areas and can be found in many other sections of the county. (Post Photo)

Brisbane To Let Sheriff Stay a Year

Brisbane councilmen have approved an arrangement which will allow the sheriff's department to continue directing police activities in the city for a period of one year "or until either party decides to dissolve the agreement."

Under the new arrangement, approved at a recent council meeting, the city will pay salary and fringe benefits for Lt. William Moran, liason officer in the city for Sheriff Earl Whitmore.

Moran's pay and other benefits total $1,360 per month.

City spokesmen said today they expect the agreement to remain in effect "at least until Chief Lillard Dyer's case is resolved in the courts, and possibly for the full one-year period."

Dyer, who was arrested in November on charges of embezzling public funds, is scheduled to appear for further arraignment in Superior Court Friday.

Moran assumed control of the Brisbane Police Department shortly after Dyer's arrest, and reportedly after sheriff's representatives told Mayor Dale With the city had "no alternative" but to allow county officials to assume control of police activities.

Under the government code, the sheriff has "concurrent jurisdiction" with city police departments within his county.

Mother's Love Wins D.C. Custody Case

Mother's love prevailed in a custody decision announced by Superior Judge Wayne R. Millington.

And the father was asked to please understand.

Judge Millington ruled that Mrs. Carol P. Nielson of 90 San Miguel Street, Daly City, may keep her sons, Larry and Mark Benboe, whose custody was sought by their father, Larry Allen Benboe of Seattle. The father had asked the court to order his former wife to give up the children. He said she refused to return the boys to him after they had spent the summer with her in accordance with a divorce agreement.

After a court hearing last Friday, Judge Millington called the boys into his chambers for a private talk.

"I'm satisfied," the jurist said today, "that they desire to remain with the mother.

"This is a case where both parents sincerely desire custody. The father, in 1963, in effect kidnaped the children, they being found only through the efforts of the mother by the FBI.

"All other things being equal (if such were the case) California law favors custody to the mother.

"This court finds that the best interests of the children will be found in the custody of the mother and it is so ordered. The father is, with kindliness, urged to accept this to be true, as have many other men."

Benboe was awarded custody of the boys last March by a Washington judge after they had been found by a private detective following a three-year search. According to Mrs. Nielson's lawyer, James Martin Mason's lawyer, James Martin MacInnis, the judge decided that the children should not be given to her because they had been away from her for three years and she had become a stranger to them. She was allowed to have the boys for a visit last summer, however, and when she refused to return them Benboe went to court. He had gone after the boys in San Francisco but discovered that his former wife had moved. He finally located her in Daly City.

SSF Boys' Club Honors Mammini

Frank Mammini, past president of the South San Francisco Boys' Club, was awarded the Boys' Club Medallion from Frank Wilson, regional director of Boys' Clubs of America, at the South San Francisco club's annual meeting recently.

Mammini was cited for his first vice president; D. L. West, secretary; and Gord Murphy, treasurer.

Tom Sauer, executive director of the club, stated in his report that club membership reached an all time high of 1542 boys in 1967. More program volunteers are needed to provide for the needs of this growth and this will be a major objective in 1968.

Gordon Hutchinson, a long time volunteer with the Boys' Club and leader of the Stamp Club, received a certificate of appreciation for his services during the past year.
active support of the Club since 1961 and particularly for his leadership in the building of the Boys' Club Gymnasium.

Wilson also installed officers for the coming year, led by Fred Royce accepting a second term as president. Other officers included Fred Humphry,

Salet Heads Rockhounds

The Daly City Rockhounds installed as president, Tom Salet, who took over the gavel from outgoing president, Bunkie Brill.

Elected as vice president was George Gulley, succeeding Dan Fogliasso. Cherry Twohey and Harriet Lee continue as secretary and treasurer respectively. Mary Smith remains as Federation director, with Bunkie Brill and Arthur Betz as members of the Board of Directors.

This group meets the first and third Mondays of each month at the Daly City War Memorial Community Center. Guests are welcome.

Storm Used To Mask A Jewel Thief

A burglar took advantage of the stormy weather last night to loot the display window of a jewelry store on San Mateo Avenue in San Bruno, police reported.

Officers said seven rings valued at more than $400 were removed from the window of the James K. White and Sons store at 628 San Mateo Avenue by a man wearing a black rubber rain suit.

Robert J. Ribairo, a photographer who has his offices adjacent to the jewelry store, told police he heard someone smash the window of the store about 1:30 a.m. today.

Ribairo ran to his window, and observed a figure wearing a black rain hat and coat fleeing on foot.

The burglar removed only the most expensive rings from the display after breaking the window, police said.

Police arrested a suspect at the scene of another burglary last night.

David F. Mojas, 811 Vista Grande, Millbrae, was arrested outside an adjacent building under construction at 1001 South San Anselmo Avenue about 11:50 p.m.

Police said witnesses spotted a man loading carpenter tools, draperies and lumber into a pickup at the building site.

Mojas was arrested while sitting in the parked truck.

Police said the suspect apparently kicked in the front door of the apartment building.

Fire Starts In Mattress

A spokesman for the Daly City fire department said a boy was playing with a cigarette lighter before a bedroom fire that caused an estimated $1,100 damage to the Edward H. Ewing home at 86 Sheffield Drive Thursday afternoon.

Starting in a mattress in an upper-level bedroom, the fire destroyed furnishings in the room and caused smoke damage throughout the upstairs level, the firemen said.

The fire was confined to the bedroom.
